Prime Minister Narendra Modi emerges from his car and waves at a crowd at Mehkri Circle in Bengaluru on Monday | EXPRESS

Fans chant his name, Modi stops his car

Cheering crowds of BJP workers and supporters got the unexpected. PM Narendra Modi stopped his car and waved at them during his visit to Bengaluru on Monday. Seeing a boisterous throng waving BJP flags and shouting 'Modi, Modi' slogan, on his way from the Airforce Station Training Command HQs to IISc, Modi stopped his car for a couple of minutes, stood up from his seat and waved at them.

Reforms look unpleasant, but work in long run: Modi

PM makes veiled reference to Agnipath during speech in Bengaluru

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI @ Bengaluru

CLEARLY hinting at the ongoing protests against the Centre's Agnipath Scheme on recruitment, PM Narendra Modi on Monday said any reform may seem unpleasant temporarily, but in the long term it would benefit the country.

In his address at Kommaghatta where he laid the foundation stone for Bengaluru's Suburban Rail and other infrastructure projects, Modi said without as much as even mentioning 'Agnipath' once, that "The path of startup and innovation is not the one with ease, and taking the country on this path for the last eight years was also not easy. Several decisions and reforms may be unpleasant temporarily, but with time their benefits can be experienced by the country."

Modi has maintained a silence on the Agnipath Scheme, but has made veiled references to the protests against it. On Sunday, he had blamed "good things brought with good intentions getting trapped in political colours", and said the media got dragged into it "due to its TRP compulsions".

Modi, who is on a two-day visit to Bengaluru and Mysuru, reiterated that "reforms will lead us to new goals and new determination," and stressed the necessity for reforms.

Citing the results of reforms in the start-ups sector, Modi said that before 2014 (the year he became Prime Minister), one could have counted billion-dollar companies that were created in earlier decades. But in the last eight years, more than a hundred billion-dollar companies have been created and new companies are being added every month.

"While the first 10,000 startups took 800 days, after 2014 many startups were added in less than 200 days. Valuation of Unicorns created in the last eight years is about Rs12 lakh crore," he said.

"The path of reforms alone can take us towards new targets and new resolve. India faces $100 bn capital outflow: RBI

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

INDIA may witness $100 billion worth of foreign portfolio investment (FPI) outflows in the event of extreme adverse shocks, a recent research paper by the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) shows.

According to the paper, there is a 5% chance of capital outflows from India of the order of 3.2% of GDP or $100.6 billion in a year, owing to extreme adverse shocks such as a Covid-type contraction in real GDP growth or in a global financial crisis situation such as in 2008.

The RBI research paper, co-authored by RBI Deputy Governor Michael Debabrata Patra, also warns that in a very extreme risk scenario or in a black swan event (in which there is a combination of all these shocks), the capital outflow could be as high as $240 billion, or 7.7% of the GDP.

The research paper says that these estimates are significant given the fact that India's total stock of portfolio investment and short-term trade credit stand at $288 billion and $110.5 billion, respectively, at the end of December 2021. P13

Sinha's name in Prez play after Gandhi, too, opts out

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi/Kolkata

A day before the second meeting of the Opposition over the upcoming Presidential elections, attention turned towards ex-finance minister Yashwant Sinha possibly entering the ring after retired diplomat and former West Bengal governor Gopalkrishna Gandhi declined to be their candidate for the polls.

Trinamool Congress chief Mamata Banerjee had tossed up the names of National Conference's Farooq Abdullah and Gandhi for the high post after NCP leader Sharad Pawar opted out last week. But Abdullah threw in the towel a couple of days ago. With Gandhi, too, conveying his disinclination, the Trinamool Congress quietly injected the name of Sinha, a BJP import into its party, who has been ascerbic about the Modi government's functioning.

For the record though, Mamata's nephew Abhishek Banerjee said, "Nothing has been decided yet. Decision on who will be the candidate of Opposition parties will be taken unanimously in Tuesday's meeting." But the buzz around Sinha started building up after a senior Trinamool Congress leader claimed that three to four parties have already seconded his candidature. P9

MODI TAKES AERIAL ROUTE, BUT TRAFFIC STILL HIT ON GROUND

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE traffic diversions in the city by the Bengaluru Traffic Police during Prime Minister Narendra Modi's visit resulted in traffic snarls in some parts of the city, though the PM took the aerial route for travelling.

With PM Modi using a military helicopter to reach venues, the traffic police had prohibited the movement of vehicles for a few hours on several roads, wherever there would be probable movement of the PM cavalcade in compliance with the protocol.

Vehicles were stuck for more than an hour. Commuters had a tough time on the busy Mysuru Road, Hebbal, Thanisandra Main Road, Mekhri Circle, and its surrounding areas, as the movement of vehicles was barred.

Traffic comes to a halt on Mysuru Road during PM Modi's visit | SHRIRAM BN

The traffic snarls on Monday were relatively less compared to the usual experience of commuters during VVIP visits. Joint Commissioner of Police (Traffic) BR Ravikanthegowda said that movement of vehicles was smooth across the city except for a few places where the snarls were cleared soon. "The police managed the traffic well and were monitoring the situation at the Traffic Management Centre. Except for the Mysuru Road, traffic was normal in other places".

Metro halts twice

Metro trains on a stretch of the Purple Line halted twice due to security reasons when the PM's convoy was passing.

"Since the Metro corridor along this route is at an elevated level and trains are running above, it would be deemed a security risk for the PM. We stopped the trains briefly twice, once when the PM went to the BASE University and when he was returning from there. The stoppage time was a maximum of 5 minutes in both directions," Anjum Parwez, MD, Bangalore Metro Rail Corporation Limited (BMRCL) told TNIE.

The MD added, "It was a perfect synchronisation between the traffic police and BMRCL. When the convey left from Komaghatta to Jnanabharathi, we received the message and stopped trains from Kengeri to Jnanabharathi station."

No Yoga Day event in Idgah Maidan: BBMP

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

HINDU outfits, who wanted to organise International Yoga Day event at the Chamarajpet Idgah Maidan, were crestfallen as the BBMP denied them permission.

Vanda Mataram Seva Samajam, Vishwa Sanathana Parishat, Srirama Sene and others had submitted a representation to the BBMP Joint Commissioner SM Srinivasa seeking permission to hold events on Yoga Day, Independence Day, Ganesha Utsav, but due to lack of clarity from the BBMP legal department, permission was denied.

"We met the West Zone Joint Commissioner SM Srinivasa two days ago. He told us that with the BBMP claiming the land as its property, the Wakf Board also has submitted documents claiming its their property. BBMP told they need two weeks' time to verify it, and permission was denied," said Chandrashekhar, Srirama Sene's Bengaluru president.

Last week, the Palike ordered a status quo following the controversy. Earlier, Hindu Janajagruthi Samithi had said it has sourced the proceeding copy of peace committee attended by MLA BZ Zameer Ahmed Khan, BJP leader Premila Nesargi, MLA RV Devaraj and ACP of the jurisdiction. It was agreed that the ground be allowed for others to be used, and said BBMP records from 1972 shows the 2.5 acres land as its property.

The Central Muslim Association, which claims to be the custodian of the Wakf land, said that in its internal meeting, they rejected the proposal.

BBMP West Zone Commissioner told TNIE, "BBMP has not given permission for International Yoga Day event as the documents regarding the issue needs to be examined."

BBMP rids city of illegal banners

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

BBMP officials removed several illegal banners in and around the city on Sunday night. The officials used GPS cameras to identify illegal holdings. A team of 200 staff headed by joint commissioners of eight zones conducted a special drive and removed more than 5,000 banners.

Deepak RL, special commissioner BBMP (Revenue) said, "We had received many complaints of illegal banners on roads including a banner on International Yoga Day. Some of the organisers had put up banners on main roads including Kanakadasa Circle opposite CM Basavaraj Bommai's residence. We used GPS cameras and instructed the deputy commissioners of all zones and removed them in four hours."

A week ago, Deepak had come heavily on mushrooming flex and banners across the city despite HC orders. He had warned that the Palike will take action against those putting up banners in public places especially those welcoming the political leaders.

Raghavendra Gowda, the organiser of Akshar Yoga, hosting International Yoga Day said, "We had paid 3,500 to BBMP to put up banners in Hebbal constituency. I was shocked when I came to know that BBMP officials removed them. I saw thousands of banners welcoming PM Narendra Modi on Ballari Road. Why did BBMP not take action against them?" he asked.

THREE RLY LEVEL CROSSING GATES ASPHALTED

EXPRESS IMPACT

The Bengaluru Railway Division on Monday swung into action and asphalted the road at three level crossing gates on the Lottegollahalli-Banaswadi route after TNIE, in its June 20 edition, highlighted the misery of commuters as roads were left half-done after the rails were laid. Divisional Railway Manager Shyam Singh told TNIE, "Asphalting of level crossing gates numbered 148, 150 and 152 was completed today." The TNIE report was based on a visit to two level crossings in the vicinity of Hebbal railway station. Gate 150 was jampacked as it connects Nagashettyhalli with Kodigehalli, and many vehicles are forced to slow down and even stop near the rails.

PETER VIDAL

21st June : I mentioned politicians and planets yesterday. In the West, most politicians who use astrology are far too wary to say so, just in case the press launch an attack on their sanity. Here in India, it's different, though. That so many politicians use astrology can't do any harm - and it might even do them some good. It certainly gives the astrologers work!

ARIES
(Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Discussions should be lively, not to say animated in the extreme. Also, for some reason which is not entirely clear, work develops an emotional dimension. It's almost as if colleagues function as a sort of surrogate family, with all that this implies.

TAURUS
(Apr. 21 - May 21)
I know that many of you have been through an emotional mangle, but I hope that you see now that it was all worth it. You are not one to bear grudges, in spite of your stubborn reputation, so I hope that all sorry episodes and upsets will soon be forgotten.

GEMINI
(May 22 - June 21)
Some astrologers will be forecasting personal tiffs this week, and I'd agree that these are very likely. However, I want to take your horoscope one stage further and suggest that you bide your time, bite your tongue and maintain a discreet, diplomatic silence.

CANCER
(June 22 - July 23)
A number of revelations should have crept up on you over the past few weeks, and you may have a clearer realisation of who you are and where you're going. However, your new understanding is instinctive and therefore extremely difficult to put into words.

LEO
(July 24 - Aug. 23)
Do you now realise that you must stand up and be counted for who you are, not for the person others want you to be? Take a spot of astrological advice and be bold, creative and colourful. Why not take more pleasure in all that life has to offer?

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
When you stop thinking you know all the answers, you will begin to learn. Mercury, the planet of the mind, is now occupying a very strong position in your solar chart, urging you to think again. It will also raise certain emotional questions, especially in matters relating to your security.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Travel plans and communications are to the fore, but it won't be the end of the world if a few plans have to be delayed. In two weeks' time, and again in four weeks' time, you'll be able to bring your intentions to fruition, so don't expect the earth to move this week.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
Somehow, your best efforts may begin to come adrift. You may hold things together by realising that you and you alone are responsible, and also by checking up on all financial angles and implications. But can you really afford it? That is the question!

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
There's still a great deal of optimism around, but you must take care of first things first. This means dealing with money, making essential purchases, arranging vital investments or taking steps to raise your earnings. Take a look around yourself - there's someone who deserves to benefit from your generosity.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Symbolically speaking, the Moon is under your control. In plain language this means that family members and people you live with, must be at your beck and call. Play your cards right and you'll get almost anything you want out of almost anybody but, if you're waiting for a partner to do the right thing, then you might have a long wait!

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
There will be fiddly loose ends to be tied up, mainly at work, but also in certain private affairs. It's time to consider other people, and a self-centred attitude may cost you support and sympathy. Romantic liaisons require an old-fashioned and self-controlled approach.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Hopefully you haven't been too off-hand with people in authority, such as employers. Verve and enthusiasm are required if you are to make the most of your very considerable advantages. Above all, make sure that every gain you've made is here to stay.

Bengaluru: A 51-year-old police sub-inspector attached to South CEN police station reportedly died by suicide at his house on Sunday. He was an ex-serviceman and had joined the state police. Shetty was deputed for PM Modi's bandobast duty on Sunday, but had cited illness and stayed home. He had also been suspended earlier as he had reported to duty under the influence of alcohol. The reason for his suicide is being ascertained.

Couple cremates son who died by suicide, abscond

PRAVEEN KUMAR @Bengaluru

CREMATING a man who had died by suicide, without informing the police, has landed around 10 people, including his parents, in trouble. The body was cremated on Sunday morning in the fields of the main accused, off Magadi Road. Tipped off, police rushed to the spot and saw the family preparing to place the body on the pyre. Seeing the police, they hurriedly pushed the corpse onto the pyre and set it alight, before fleeing the spot.

The incident took place between 9.45am and 11.30am on Sunday, near Kallerapalya check dam. The deceased, N Jagadish, had hanged himself from a tree in Huchappanagudde. He was the son of Nagaraju and Padma, the main suspects. After bringing his son's body down, Nagaraju, with the help of others, shifted it to his field near the dam.

Around 11.30am, policemen Krishnappa and Muthuraj got a tip-off about arrangements being made to cremate a body. After learning that the deceased had committed suicide, they rushed to the spot as investigation is mandatory in such cases, followed by a postmortem. The accused are said to have escaped after setting the pyre on fire. "The reason behind the man's death is yet to be ascertained. The suspects, who are absconding, include the parents and relatives of the deceased. As it is a criminal offence, all of them will be arrested," said the police.

A case of omission to give notice or information to a public servant by a person legally bound to give it (IPC 176) and causing disappearance of evidence of offence, or giving false information to screen offender (IPC 201) has been registered.

Denial of rly jobs to 2, CAT order upheld

ENS @Bengaluru

THE High Court has upheld an order passed by the Central Administrative Tribunal (CAT) backing Railway Recruitment Cell's decision of denying Group D jobs to two people in 2019. The cell took the decision based on a CBI chargesheet against them. The two had allegedly received answers through SMS on the mobile phones. The court rejected the pleas by Rajesh G and Rakesh V from Hubballi. "It hardly needs to be stated that in public recruitment, persons participating in the process with unclean hands cannot be favoured, especially when untainted lot is available in the open market. The employing agencies cannot be faltered with when they initiate reasonable enquiry when shady deals do occur in recruitment," it said.

Jewellery, laptops lost at rail station worth ₹13 lakh recovered

S LALITHA @Bengaluru

THANKS to swift action by the Government Railway Police (GRP) with the aid of CCTV footage, a young couple heading from Bengaluru to Chennai got back their diamond ornaments and two laptops worth around Rs 13.5 lakh which they had left behind at KSR Bengaluru Railway Station recently. The GRP pursued the case and recovered the valuables from a family in Indore this weekend. It turned out to be a happy ending with no arrests as they too were looking out for the people who lost the items.

The couple is delighted with the recovery of their jewellery — two bangles made of gold and diamond, a pair of earrings and a kada — totally worth around Rs 12 lakh. Both the Dell and Lenovo laptops were handed to them in good shape.

Deputy SP, KSR Bengaluru, CR Geetha, told TNIE that the couple left behind a backpack with these items on a bench on Platform Five and boarded the Cauvery Express on June 3 night. They realised later that they had misplaced their bag and filed a complaint at the railway police station.

Geetha said, "We monitored the CCTV footage and found that a father and son had sat at the spot and examined the bag. They later took it with them and boarded the Mysuru-Renigunta train. They were the only passengers on the platform at 1.30 am. We tallied it with the passenger chart and found the contact number of the person who had booked their online tickets." He was from Indore.

A team from GRP headed to Ratham district in Indore and reached the family's house. "They had assumed jewels in a plastic pouch to be artificial and had kept them aside. They were trying to track the owner of the laptop by logging onto it and by taking it to a local dealer too but were unable to do so," she added.

SP, South Western Railway, DR Sirigowri said, "It was a rare case where we could connect all the dots so perfectly and everything that had gone missing was recovered intact. Our DSP Geetha and Sub-Inspector Purushottam have pursued the matter to the logical end. Happy to see such satisfied complainants."

Yoga Day: Celebration of Mysore's Remarkable Heritage

Dr K. Sudhakar

Today, Mysore will be witness to a grand celebration of the 8th International Day of Yoga (IDY). Our beloved Prime Minister Shri Narendra Modi himself is participating in the yoga demonstration from the Amba Vilas Palace. About 15 thousand people are expected to be physically joining our PM. The fact that our PM has chosen Mysore for this yoga day celebration, is a matter of pride and happiness to all Kannadigas.

Maharshi Patanjali compiled his "Yoga Sutra" in the 2nd Century BC. References to Yoga can be found even in Rigveda. After Patanjali, Maharishi Vyasa, Vachasmruti and several practitioners have contributed elaborate commentaries to the practice of Yoga, many of which have been lost to time.

Mysore is a symbol of modernity and culture, thanks to the model administration achieved under the Mysore Maharajas. The patronage extended by the Maharajas to art, music, science, literature, as well as yoga, is an inspiration for us all.

The foundations for yoga in erstwhile Mysore State were laid under the patronage of Mummadi Krishnaraja Wodeyar. His treatise, Sritattvanidhi, a work on the iconography of the divine figures in South India, has elaborate illustrations of 122 hatha yoga postures. This patronage was further expanded under Nalvadi Krishnaraja Wodeyar. During their reign, Guru Tirumalai Krishnamachari, followed by Pattabhi Jois, B.K.S Iyengar and T.K.V Deshikachar made immense contributions to yoga. Consequent to all this, today, Mysore hosts over 200 yoga shalas – teaching and advancing yoga to Indians and foreigners alike. Mysore is even credited for creating a scientific framework for the practice of Ashtanga yoga, a form that is prevalent across the country today.

Guru Krishnamachari deserves a special mention, here, for having conducted extensive research and conserving the yoga instructions, that lay buried in several Sanskrit texts. He authored more than four books, including the Yoga Makaranda. His nephew, B.K.S. Iyengar went on to spread yoga to every corner of the world, the form popularly referenced everywhere as 'Iyengar yoga'.

Considering all these, the yoga tradition from Mysore has a standing, perhaps, second to only that of Hrishikesh.

We all can agree that the modern lifestyle has thrown several challenges at us. Every one of us has become prey to stress, anxiety and other physical and emotional ailments, thereby invoking a desperate call to 'go back to the basics!'. Therefore, along with us moving closer to nature, it is only fitting that we also move closer to yoga and advance our spiritual pursuits by embracing the philosophies of Karmayoga-Jnanayoga-Dhyanayoga.

For me, it is a matter of pride that under the New Education Policy, indigenous knowledge systems like yoga are becoming part of our comprehensive learning framework. This will be instrumental in laying a solid foundation for the upbringing of a new generation, of a New India.

As soon as our beloved PM took office in 2014, he set himself up on the ambitious plan to promote our glorious traditions across the world, and these efforts found fruit in the form of the International Day of Yoga. There is a virtuous Indian belief of Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam (the World is One Family) inherent in this initiative. Consequently, today, more than 170 countries celebrate the IDY every year.

In this celebration, there is a call for global unity among the international communities, the embodiment of prayers for world peace, and an innate noble desire to position India strongly on the world stage. In this effort, like many others, our beloved Prime Minister leads from the front, and he has 130 crore Indians standing solidly behind him!

PM BATS FOR 'DOUBLE ENGINE' GOVT

K SHIVA KUMAR @Mysuru

SETTING the tone for the 2023 state Assembly polls and the 2024 Lok Sabha elections, Prime Minister Narendra Modi here on Monday pitched for the continuation of the "double-engine" government, meaning the same party governance at the state and Centre.

Launching a slew of development projects, he presented a progress card of the governments at a mammoth rally of beneficiaries of various schemes at Maharaja's College Grounds. He said Central welfare programmes have contributed to the development of Karnataka and also people across the spectrum in the country.

The country is celebrating Azadi ka Amruth Mahotsav this year and it has seen too many governments that had limited reach and influence. "But after coming to power at the Centre, our government decided to change old traditions. We have provided social justice with effective last-mile delivery. While we have provided incentives to youth under the start-up policy, we are also giving money to farmers," he said.

"The idea behind every scheme of our government is to give priority for its delivery to every section and corner of the country. The poor have started believing that the scheme that benefits their neighbour will benefit them too some day," he said.

The Centre has sanctioned around Rs 70,000 crore for 5,000 km of national highways in Karnataka. "The foundation stone for National Highway projects worth over Rs 7,000 crore was laid in Bengaluru today (Monday). It was less than Rs 800 crore by the previous government," he said.

The one nation-one ration card scheme, which allows families to get free ration, has enabled 4.5 crore families in Karnataka. The government has given incentives to start-ups, which will conduct research and evolve facilities for the disabled and visually impaired. Rs 10,000 crore has been transferred to marginal and small farmers in the state. Building 4.75 crore houses and providing tapped water connection to crores of people are some of the central schemes benefitting the population of the state, he stressed.

"The welfare of women, Dalits, farmers and weaker sections was a mere slogan for opposition party governments, but for us, it is a mission. Central programmes benefitting the needy, poor and deserving has raised the hopes of these sections after the BJP government came to power in 2014. It was possible only because of the mandate of the people. They should bless us to continue the good work," he added.

He said the state has given many great personalities, like Nalwadi Krishnaraja Wadiyar, Sir M Visvesvaraya and Rashtrakavi Kuvempu, to the country.

Not done in 40 years, but we will do in 40 months: Modi on Suburban Rail

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi on Monday hit out at previous governments for not taking the initiative to develop infrastructure and implement key projects, especially the Bengaluru Suburban Rail Project (BSRP) for nearly four decades.

• Infra Push

"The project was just talked about for 40 years and remained on paper for about 16 years without any concrete work on the ground. We will complete it in forty months. It must be in my fate and the people have given this opportunity to me to complete it," he said, addressing a public rally at Kommaghatta near Kengeri where he launched five national highways and seven railway projects, including the BSRP, together worth over Rs 33,000 crore.

Praising the spirit of Bengaluru, he said it is a dream land for lakhs of youth of the country and a start-up hub for innovations. "We will decongest the city for ease of living besides ease of doing business. Perhaps it was in my fate to give a fillip to the infrastructure projects of the city and help the youth nurture their dreams," the PM added.

Bengaluru's success story inspires 21st century India to become 'Aatmnirbhar'. The city has shown what Indian youth can do if the government provides facilities and minimises interference in the lives of citizens, he pointed out.

"Benguluru becoming the dream city of the youth is because of entrepreneurship, innovation and proper utility of public as well as private sector. Bengaluru is a lesson for those who still disrespect the spirit of private enterprise of India," he said.

Modi visit will have an impact on BBMP, 2023 Assembly elections

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI
@Bengauru

PM Narendra Modi on Monday gave a much-needed impetus for infrastructure development in Karnataka by launching projects worth over Rs 33,000 crore. Modi's visit, after a gap of almost one-and-half years, and ahead of a series of elections, is likely to have its own impact on state politics.

With BBMP elections expected in September-October, and the 2023 Assembly polls less than a year away, Modi's visit is likely to boost the morale of the ruling BJP. It also appears to have helped keep the party's rank and file united, which is paramount ahead of elections. Bengaluru city has 28 assembly seats, and the development projects launched by Modi are likely to be part of the party's poll plank. Some party leaders, including Chikkaballapura LS member B N Bache Gowda, whose son Sharath has identified with the Congress, took part in a rally for Modi at Kommaghatta. Housing minister V Somanna, who has allegedly held a round of talks with some Congress leaders, also took an active part.

The rally near Kengeri, which comes under Cooperation Minister S T Somashekar's Yeshwanthpur assembly constituency, saw an overwhelming response from thousands of BJP workers and staunch supporters of Modi. Slogans hailing the Prime Minister bore shades of an election rally. Ahead of the 2018 assembly polls, Modi had launched the BJP's campaign at Kommaghatta which turned out to be lucky for the party.

Stitch me a kurta, PM requests tailor

MYSURU: PM Modi, interacting with beneficiaries of Central schemes on Monday, stunned everyone when he asked a woman tailor from Chamrajanagar whether she could stitch him a kurta. When Ambika, a beneficiary of Mudra Yojana and National Rural Mission, who works as a tailor in Basappa Doddi village in Chamarajanagar, told Modi she was doing well, he asked her if she would stitch a kurta for him, and hand it over to Union Minister Pralhad Joshi. Yashoda, a farmer from KR Nagar who availed of PM Awas Yojana to build a house said she invited PM Modi to visit her house.

Siddu poses a slew of questions to Modi

ENS @ Bengaluru

LEADER of Opposition in the Assembly Siddaramaiah on Monday posed several questions for Prime Minister Narendra Modi who began his two-day tour of Karnataka. The former CM questioned the PM on a series of tweets with the hashtag #AnswerMadiModi.

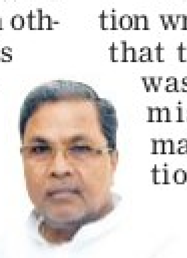
"I am not saying that PM Modi should not come to our state. I am only urging him to address some of the concerns raised," the Badami MLA said. He also hit out at Modi alleging that the latter did not visit Karnataka when the state witnessed massive floods in 2019. "He did not console the people...he also did not release special grants,: Siddaramaiah said.

On merger of banks, Siddaramaiah said, "Mysore Bank, Corporation Bank, Syndicate Bank, Vijaya Bank belong to our state... where are these banks now? Who merged these banks with other banks? The total assets of these banks was Rs 317 lakh crore and were employing 75,000 people, many of them Kannadigas."

On lack of oxygen during the Covid-19 second wave, Siddaramaiah said, "Many people died in the state due to lack of oxygen. In Chamarajanagar district hospital 36 patients died due to oxygen shortage. The Union Minister concerned lied in the Parliament that not a single person died of lack of oxygen.''

Siddaramaiah also charged that Karnataka's share in taxes was dipping since Modi assumed office in 2014. "Let's understand that in eight years, Karnataka has raised Rs 19 lakh crore by way of different taxes, including income tax, corporate tax, excise duty, GST and so on. Now, if 42% had been ploughed back to the state, we would have received an allocation of Rs 8 lakh crore. But statistics reveal that only Rs 2.14 lakh crore has been allocated to Karnataka. Where is the balance of Rs 11 Lakh crore that rightfully belongs to our people?" Siddaramaiah said.

"The contractors' association wrote to the PM alleging that the state government was demanding 40 commission projects. I demand to know what action Modi has taken in this regard?," he added.



Old varsity, new stone: PM opens BASE again

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @ Bengaluru

PM Narendra Modi on Monday inaugurated the Dr BR Ambedkar School of Economics (BASE) University building at Jnanabharathi campus of Bangalore University, sparking ridicule from the Congress for inaugurating a building that is already in use by students for several months.

Opposition leader Siddaramiah tweeted, "Former President Late Pranab Mukherjee had laid the foundation stone for BASE and our government completed the construction of the building in just 6 months. BSc (Honours) Economics classes were started in June 2017... Former PM Manmohan Singh inaugurated our flagship project Babasaheb Dr B R Ambedkar School of Economics in 2017. It gives us immense pleasure to recollect the satisfying memory of dedicating a world class University to the people of Karnataka."

Sources from BASE University said it was started at Central College campus and later moved to the Visual Arts department building on Jnanabharathi campus. The building has been in use by students, faculty members and research scholars since March this year, but a new stone was installed, saying it was inaugurated on Monday, sources said.

Some even questioned how the authorities could mislead PM Modi, saying it is a brand new building, when students were already attending classes. Former minister Priyank Kharge asked why the PM was inaugurating an "already semi-functional campus with 3 batches of graduates having already graduated".

BASE University was planned along the lines of London School of Economics.

ENS @ Bengaluru

THE numerous railway projects which were dedicated to the nation or for which the foundation stone was laid by PM Narendra Modi on Monday are bound to have a far-reaching impact on the economy as well as daily commute of citizens across Karnataka.

Of immediate impact for Bengaluru will be the launch of the Sir M Visvesvaraya Terminal Bengaluru which was awaiting a formal launch for over a year. "The highly-saturated terminals of KSR Bengaluru and Yesvantpur did not permit launch of new trains from the city. The origin of many trains can now be shifted to the new terminal. Three pairs have already started and many more are being planned," said South Western Railway, Chief PRO Aneesh Hegde.

The big impact in the near future would be the Bengaluru Suburban Railway Project which is expected to be ready in 40 months from now and would benefit nearly 10 lakh passengers a day.

• Railways

Divisional Railway Manager, Mysuru Division, Rahul Agarwal, said, "There was an enormous demand to run more trains from Mysuru to different parts of Karnataka and the country but we could not do so. Both the Naganahalli terminal and Mysuru New Coaching Terminal will give us additional platforms, pitlines and facilitate starting of new trains."

The electrification of Konkan railway project will reduce diesel pollution in the Western Ghats and enable smokeless, noiseless train operations.

The Arsikere-Tumakuru as well as the Yelahanka-Penukonda doubling will increase the number of trains, benefit students, devotees and farmers. MEMU trains will benefit thousands travelling between Bengaluru and Hindupur. "The doubling will help in improving connectivity and mobility of Bengaluru towards the Hubballi-Mumbai route and the Secunderabad route, Hegde said.

Two members of the same family were killed on the spot and three others seriously injured when the car in which they were travelling was rammed by a tanker near Alur on Bengaluru-Mangaluru National Highway 75 on Sunday night. The deceased are Anjanappa (40) and Kartik (17) from Tamil Nadu

Vedanta to sell its copper plant

Company was embroiled in legal issues in TN

S GODSON WISELY DASS
@Thoothukudi

VEDANTA Group has invited bids for the sale of its copper smelting plant at Thoothukudi, Sterlite Copper, which has been entangled in various legal and political issues in Tamil Nadu. However, the copper major's sudden decision to sell the entire plant has evoked confusion and mixed responses.

In conjunction with the Axis Capital, Vedanta invited Expression of Interest (EoI) from financially competent parties to buy the unit encapsulated with smelter complex (primary and secondary), sulphuric acid plant, copper refinery, continuous copper rod plant, phosphoric acid plant, caprice power plant, oxygen generation unit and residential complex with amenities, along with an expansion project of 400,000 Metric Tonnes Per Annum (MTPA), on or before July 4, 2022.

"The Thoothukudi (Tuticorin) plant is a national asset which has been catering to 40% of our national demand of copper and has played an integral role towards India's self-sufficiency in copper," Vedanta said in its official statement. It said the copper smelter contributes ₹2,500 crore to the government exchequer and 95% of market share in sulphuric acid in TN.

"In the best interest of the country and the people of Tamil Nadu, we are exploring options to make sure that the plant and the assets are best utilised to meet growing copper demand of the nation," the statement added.

A senior official from Industries Department told TNIE the matter is sub-judice as of now and refused to comment on the issue.

Thoothukudi Member of Parliament Kanimozhi Karunanidhi said the State government is of the view not to open any such hazardous industries polluting the environment.

Scam-accused Rly pharmacist found dead

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Mangaluru

A PHARMACIST working with the Railways, who was recently arrested by the CBI in connection with an alleged fake fitness certificate scam, was found dead under mysterious circumstances along the railway tracks near Thokkottu Railway Overbridge near Mangaluru on Monday.

The deceased is Vijayan V A (59), a pharmacist attached to the Railway Medical Unit, located in the premises of Mangaluru Central Railway Station. Government Railway Police Inspector Mohan said Vijayan was found dead near the railway track at around 1.40 pm and is suspected to have been run over by a goods train. "Prima facie, it appears to be an accident. We have registered an Unnatural Death Report (UDR) and are investigating," said the inspector. He said no death note was found on him.

Vijayan, a native of Kanhangad in Kerala, was residing at the railway quarters in Mangaluru along with his wife, children and father.

On June 10, he along with another person was arrested by the CBI on charges of involvement in a fake fitness certificate racket and both were released on bail.

It was alleged that the duo was involved in issuing bogus fitness certificates to licensed vendors, porters, housekeeping staff and others without checks.

Videos drive man to sacrifice daughter in AP

ENS @Nellore

GREED and superstition reportedly prompted a 37-year-old man to perform a ritual that killed his four-year-old daughter at Perareddypalle in Atmakur, Nellore, police said after arresting the man and his mother on Monday.

Identifying the accused as Kandra Venugopal and K Dorasanamma (56), investigators said YouTube videos motivated the man to conduct the rituals. He heard about the video from some people in his locality.

Disclosing the details of the case, Atmakur Police Circle Inspector G Venugopala Reddy said the videos made Venugopal believe that sacrificing a child would bring him huge wealth. Convinced, the man decided to sacrifice one of his twins, Punarvika, so that would become rich.

Venugopal discussed the plan with his mother Dorasanamma, who reportedly supported his move to gather wealth. Motivated by the YouTube videos he asked his mother to take his other child, Purvika, to a temple on June 15 morning.

Once Dorasanamma left for the temple with Purvika, Venugopal began the rituals inside his house. He asked Punarvika to lie down before an idol, and allegedly told her to consume vermilion and turmeric power as part of his alleged plan to strangle her.

Police registered a case and launched a search for Venugopal and his mother, who were arrested from A S Peta Crossroad in Atmakur town on Monday.

Rly violence: IT raids Def instructor's properties

THREE days after the Narsaraopeta police detained Avula Subba Rao - an ex-serviceman and director of Sai Defence Academy - for his alleged role in the June 17 violence at Secunderabad Railway Station against the Agnipath scheme, teams of Central intelligence agencies and Income Tax (IT) Department reportedly raided the academy office, his residence, and a lodge at Narasaraopet town in Palnadu district on Monday. Three separate teams, comprising intelligence and IT officials, arrived at Narasaraopet town on Monday morning and took Subba Rao into custody for questioning.

During their raids, the officials reportedly seized incriminating documents from his office pertaining to the students who took coaching at his academy in Narasaraopet and Secunderabad branches.

Sources said, the intelligence officials are gathering details of the students who underwent coaching at the academy, so that they can verify the accused, who had participated in the arson, arrested by the Secunderabad railway police.

A senior official said, "Intelligence officials are verifying all the YouTube videos posted by Sai Defence Academy to check for any provocative content. Based on the probe by Secunderabad railway police, it has been learnt that students of various defence academies had participated in the riot. The investigation will now focus on the role of Subba Rao and his students who participated in the riot."

Meanwhile, the Income Tax sleuths verified how much revenue Subba Rao was making through the Academy and whether he was paying taxes.

GRAPPLING WITH THE MENACE OF BLACK MONEY

Black money has ceased to be an emotive issue. The latest report of Indian funds in Swiss banks growing to a 14-year high did not evoke the kind of anger such news used to at the time of the India against Corruption movement. Perhaps people have realised the futility of knee-jerk policymaking—such as demonetisation or retrospective taxation—against the menace of black money.

Black money, especially that which is stashed abroad, is like a ghost. Its existence spooks everyone even if they are not sure about the shape and form. All governments in the past and present seem to have shadow-boxed with this ghost without much success. To tackle the problem, governments have, at times, come up with policies that have done more harm to the economy than detected black money. Unfortunately, the issue of black money—money on which no tax has been paid to the government—is more serious than just pilfering of public funds. And at times it is not even illegal. Large corporates or their promoters may not be paying tax on certain profits or earnings through perfectly legal routes created over the years by governments across the globe, India included.

People do take undue advantage of exemptions and relaxations in tax laws meant to promote investment, setting up of businesses, etc. A large chunk of the black money could, therefore, be more unethical than illegal, unless of course the money earned is through ill-gotten means like drug dealing and smuggling.

After the financial crisis of 2007–08, globally there have been concerted efforts to put a leash on the practice of shifting profits to tax havens or low-tax regimes. Countries under the aegis of OECD and G20 have been mobilising support to have a minimum corporate tax globally, tax digital companies that are jurisdiction-agnostic, and also a multilateral agreement for seamless exchange of information. Identifying and curbing the generation of black money is easier said than done, and it needs smarter, not emotional, policymaking.

CRICKET IMMUNE TO MARKET RISKS FOR NOW

Global markets are down. Investors are fearing a prolonged bear run. There is a crisis in the world of crypto with various currencies setting new lows on a daily basis. Retail inflation is still dangerously high. But even in this scenario, the Indian Premier League (IPL) is one of the very few products that continues to make money. Amid a never-ending Covid-19 loop in 2021, the Board of Control for Cricket in India (BCCI) rolled in the money as it welcomed two new teams for record sums.

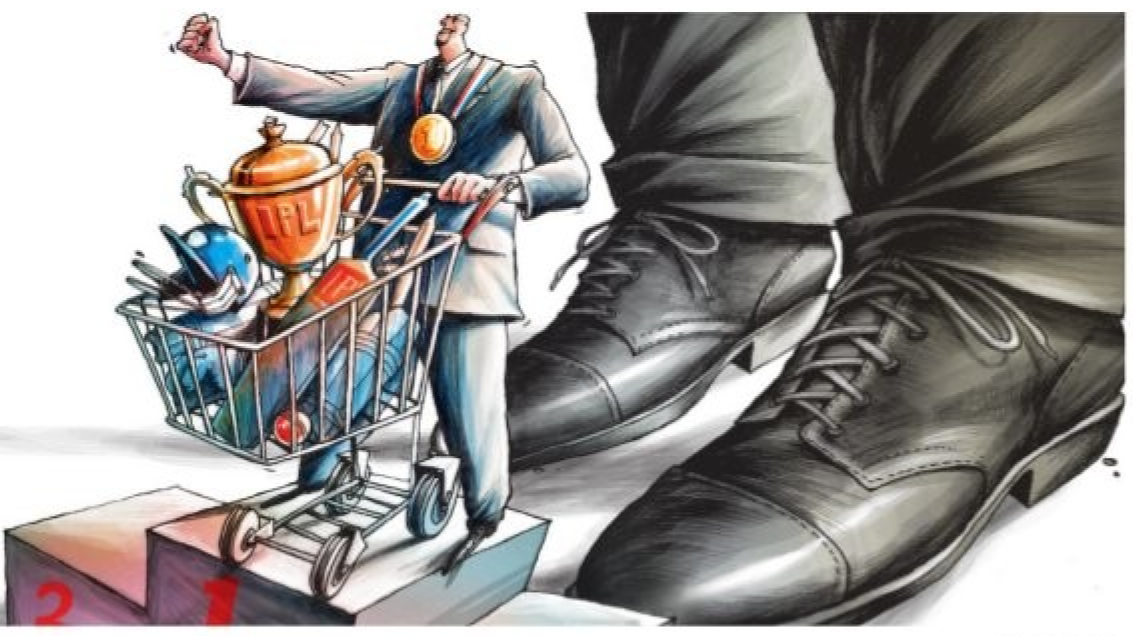
Last week, its bet on investors lapping up an expanded IPL reaped rich dividends as the media rights were sold for an excess of $5 billion (₹48,390 crore) for a five-year period from 2023. In terms of sporting properties across the globe, the figure the BCCI has managed belongs in the stratosphere—along with the biggest multi-discipline event (Summer Olympics), the most popular Cup competition in the world (FIFA World Cup), the most widely watched sporting league (English Premier League) and a few franchise leagues in the US(NBA and NFL), the country with one of the most developed media rights markets in the world.

Last week, however, also showed the challenges that do exist for the BCCI to keep the IPL media rights among the most lucrative in the world. Digital rights is now the kingmaker. In a country like India, that is not a surprise because of the ease of owning a smartphone. Couple that with the accessibility of cheap 4G and low subscription rates to OTT platforms, and it is a marriage made in heaven.

However, the money that came in from TV rights could be a red herring. If the market is maturing, they will have to squeeze more money via digital in the next cycle to continue this upward trajectory. There is also the one inherent problem that the IPL faces. For all the commerce, the sport has not grown outside the Commonwealth. That being the case, the board faces a battle to get hundreds of thousands of new fans every five years. That, however, is a medium-term problem. For the next five years, though, it will be one of the undisputed market leaders.

Although we compare the IPL media broadcast rates to the NFL, there is a point of caution. This comparison is by the rate achieved in this auction and not by sheer market size

IS IT A WIN OR LOSS FOR IPL MEDIA RIGHTS WINNERS?



SOUMYADIP SINHA

HARISH BIJOOR

Brand Guru & Founder, Harish Bijoor Consults Inc

We have just about emerged from the sound, action and fury of the IPL media rights auction that has delivered the BCCI and its stakeholders a whopping ₹48,390 crore in committed revenue over a period that spans 2023–27. Champagne has been popped, and the lights, action and drama is now done with. Reality time is here, and as at the end of every mega auction (as this has been), there are happy points, just as there are points that must worry the winners more than the losers.

As the dust settles, the key question doing the rounds is whether this mega auction round has been a lot of bluster and bravado and sports optics, as opposed to really good and solid economic activity that creates EVA (economic value add) in a category that has hitherto represented a minuscule portion of value in the enterprise of progressive commerce in India. Let me start by putting into perspective what just happened.

The Indian Premier League (IPL) is today a mega success as a sporting property. It has just completed 15 seasons. Every one of it has seen eyeballs grow. Cricket played in whites over five long and laborious days has been replaced today by that played in colours, which challenge the eye and literally every other sense. From a purists' perspective, it's not cricket anymore. It's instant cricket curated for a humongous set of viewers who want everything quick and fast. There is a whole lot of glamour and glitz. The skimpily clad cheerleaders are gone, as are the much publicised and maligned IPL after-parties, but everything else remains. The title sponsor is India's most respected corporate, the Tata group. Teams are owned by the biggest and best in the industry. This ropes in the best corporate names from Mukesh and Nita Ambani at one end to Kalanithi Maran at the other. There is interest from Bollywood and most importantly, there is interest in every home where television sets and digital devices are constantly streaming cricket content during, before and after the season of fixtures. Bollywood and cricket (not necessarily in that order) remain the two religions that dominate every diverse group in the country, never mind which religion or region they belong to. As many as 920 million eyeballs (multiplied by two of course) are glued to content on television and exactly half of that—460 million, comes from digital formats and devices of every kind. The former is on static mode and the latter is on fast-gallop mode of course. The IPL auction that just concluded is all about these two mediums and their reach in terms of width and the involvement of a nation of viewers with cricket content that seems to deepen with every passing year. Thanks to the IPL and the league format, that is a distinctive success for sure.

When assessing the IPL and the recently closed auction for its broadcast rights on physical and digital formats, it is important to look at the last broadcast bid that was won by the now Disney-owned Star TV network. The last broadcast bid period that covered 2017–22 went for what was then considered a whopping ₹16,347.50 crore. It is important to note that this bid was for the combined physical and digital media broadcast rights. We are told the channel has made a small but not significant profit on that bid after all expenses. To an extent, that win, after all the effort, has been more of image and optics rather than a pure economic win. Both do indeed contribute, as all of us know.

The current bid then showcases the IPL and the right to broadcast its content differently from the last period. This time round, the bid has had four packages: While one covered television rights for the Indian subcontinent (base price ₹49 crore per match), digital rights for India(₹33 crore per match), digital rights for a special bouquet of selected matches for India (base price ₹11 crore per match) and finally the rest of the world television and digital rights (base price ₹3 crore per match).

The auction and its bids just closed—this has thrown up whopping numbers to digest. Some do find it hard to digest as well. Comparatively speaking, if Season 1 of the IPL in 2008 saw an actual broadcast price of ₹13.6 crore, in 10 years of the league by 2018, the number had grown to ₹55 crore per match. And five years hence in 2023, as per the current win, it will be ₹107.5 crore. What grew by four times in 10 years has grown by two times in the last five years. The promise ahead seems to have everyone in the industry of cricket and its broadcast gushing. There is brave talk of challenging the National Football League, which boasts a broadcast value of ₹133 crore per match. The BCCI is gung-ho and Disney Star (winner of the TV rights) looks happy. Viacom18 from the house of Reliance (winner of the digital rights) looks happier still. Every IPL team needs to be happy as there are spoils to be shared from this auction over the years ahead. The players are always happy as well, I guess.

The nation does not only eat sports content. Money will flow out of cricket for sure. I do believe this inflation in IPL broadcast rates is good for the rest of the genres of the Indian broadcast industry

What then is the issue amidst all this happiness? The whopping numbers for sure. Inflation has bitten IPL broadcast rates. This means that brands, with their limited media budgets, will be able to buy less than ever before. This also means that sports media broadcast rates will see inflationary pressure. As the IPL threatens to dominate as much as 72% of all sports media broadcast revenues in the country, expect everything in the realm of the ability to use advertising to get more expensive than ever before. What's however interesting is the fact that physical advertising will fight the digital separately—with two different sales teams from two different media enterprises fighting one another. The rate-card wars will of course continue as before. Add to it the domino effect. What happens to sports broadcasting rates will affect every other genre of broadcast. The nation does not only eat sports content. There is entertainment, news, and a lot more. The ability to compete with all these other genres will grow. Each of them has the ability to raise their prices now. If, however, they hold on to their old rates, they have the ability to compete for the mega bucks of the cricket-rates stressed advertiser looking to boost viewership from everything else that is available at more affordable prices. Money will flow out of cricket for sure. I do believe this inflation in IPL broadcast rates is good for the rest of the genres of the Indian broadcast industry. In fact, they must be popping champagne, if not desi wine.

Although we compare and celebrate the IPL media broadcast rates to the NFL, there is a point of caution. We must remember that the comparison is by the rate achieved in this IPL auction and not by sheer market size and the opportunity to monetise wide and deep. The Indian broadcast media value by itself is certainly no comparison to that of the US, both in terms of the value size of the industry and that of the per capita consumer market spend spread. And there is one other issue: Cricket content in India reaches literally every potential eyeball there is to reach. Cricket is a saturation and not a greenfield opportunity. At least in terms of width of reach.

And finally, are the winners really the winners or are they really the potential losers of tomorrow? Only time will tell. At the end of this broadcast auction period's tenure in 2027, two media houses will sit and review their bottomline. The truth will be told then. Till then, there is plenty to celebrate. Optics wins for now. Economics will have to wait—for the moment.

DIKPALA CEILING PANELS IN KARNATAKA TEMPLES

SAURABH SAXENA

Founder of Puratattva, a documentation of heritage sites

Ashta-dikpala refers to the group of eight deities representing the guardians of the eight directions. The idea would have started with the references to where one was standing, i.e., forward, backward, up, down, etc., as a few Vedic hymns mention directions in this referential frame. Over time, a need would have arisen to standardise these directions, which would have led to the division of space. There are references to four, five, six, seven, eight, ten and sometimes eleven directions in various Vedic hymns. This standardisation would have soon been fixed into four major directions (east, west, south and north) and four minor directions (south-east, south-west, north-west and north-east). To this set of eight, sometimes two additional directions were added, making a group of 10, one representing the zenith above and another the nadir below. Sometimes, an eleventh direction, the direction of the Pole Star, was also added to the group.

Once the space division was fixed, there arose a need to fix guardian deities to seek protection and welfare. This led to an idea of auspicious and inauspicious directions in different circumstances and situations. Rules were laid down for worshipping the guardian deities as to how and when to invoke, propitiate and offer sacrifices. The concept of ashta-dikpalas was transitional during the Vedic age as sometimes only their numbers or only a few names were provided. In the famous Purusha-sukta of the Rig Veda, directions are said to be born out of the ears of the Virata-purusha. The Buddhist idea of four lokapalas (guardians of the world) or chaturmaharajika (four great kings) is also centred around the same thought process.

The idea of ashta-dikpalas was crystallised during the Puranic period. The group consists of Indra guarding the east, Agni in the south-east, Yama in the south, Nrrtti in the south-west, Varuna in the west, Vayu in the north-west, Kubera in the north and Ishana in the north-east. Protection from all quarters was one of the basic principles of Vastu-shashtra. The foundation rituals of a building generally included ceremonies to invoke deities for its protection from all the quarters. During the early medieval period, these deities started being placed on the karnas (corner) pilasters of a temple vimana; eight faces of these corner pillars provided eight spots to place the ashta-dikpala group.

While the vertical elevation was protected by placing the dikpalas in the above arrangement, protection for the horizontal space was carried out by placing the same group on the ceiling panels. The idea of the ceiling decoration started with the Chalukyas of Badami who ruled between the 6th and 8th century CE. Their early instances do not depict the whole group of eight deities; there are sometimes four or six as found in Cave No. 3 in Badami. The first set of the full ashta-dikpala group as a ceiling decoration appears in the Papanatha temple in Pattadakal. Due to the political and cultural engagement of the Badami Chalukyas with other regions and dynasties, this idea of ceiling decoration propagated further north towards Andhra Pradesh and Maharashtra. This idea was later extended by the Western Chalukyas, Hoysalas and Gangas, all ruling over different regions of Karnataka. This resulted in Karnataka having the maximum concentration of temples and mandapas where ashta-dikpala panels were carved on ceilings.

This also led to the standardisation of the ceiling design. A square or rectangular ceiling was divided into nine compartments using a three-by-three matrix layout. The eight compartments on the periphery were occupied by the ashta-dikpala group and the ninth central compartment was reserved for the main deity to whom the temple was dedicated. Instances of Shiva occupying this central compartment are more than other deities such as Vishnu and Brahma. The same ceiling device is also seen in a few Jain temples where a Tirthankara or yaksha occupies the central compartment.

(L) Dikpala roundel with Vishnu in the centre, at Cave no 3 in Badami, Karnataka (Early Chalukya); (R) Kedareshvara Temple in Balligavi, Karnataka (Western Chalukya)

The ceiling panels in Balligavi, Betur, Aralaguppe and Kambadahalli are of great interest. The panel in the Kalleshvara temple (Aralaguppe) is considered the most exquisite among all for its style and execution. It has a four-armed Nataraja in its central compartment, and the remaining eight regions have dikpalas riding over their mounts and accompanied by their consorts. The panel in the Kalleshvara temple (Betur) is larger and has Shiva-Gajantaka in the centre. Except for Nrrtti, the rest of the dikpalas are shown with their consorts. All the dikpalas are accompanied by a large retinue consisting of dancers and musicians. The panel in the Kedareshvara temple (Balligavi) has an impressive 16-armed Shiva in its central compartment, accompanied by Ganesha and Kartikeya. All the dikpalas in the panel are riding over their respective mounts, and accompanied by their consorts and a large retinue of dancers and musicians. The Jain temples at Kambadahalli have multiple shrines and there are two dikpala ceiling panels, one with a Jain Tirthankara in the centre and another with Yaksha Dhanendra. The dikpalas are shown riding over their mounts and accompanied by their consorts. We encounter fewer instances of such ceilings in later-period temples, where this design is generally found in standalone mandapas.

No more terrorism

This is with reference to 2 Pak nationals among 4 terrorists killed in Valley (June 20). It is heartening to note that Pakistani militants and local recruits are being eliminated by security forces in the south Kashmir area that borders the country. The government's message about how those who raise their guns against the country will meet the same fate must be firmly ingrained in the minds of the Kashmiri youth—they must be encouraged to be law-abiding citizens and engage in productive activities.

K V Raghuram, Wayanad

Transparency can help

This is with reference to Glaring lack of communication on Agnipath Scheme (June 20). Just like the hasty decision on the three farm laws, the Central government has once again introduced a scheme without disseminating accurate information about it. If it had been properly coordinated, maybe there would not be such protests at all. Hopefully, the Centre will not repeat such a mistake in the future.

N Rama Rao, Chennai

A hidden agenda

As rightly pointed out by the author of Agnipath and the dark matter of democracy (June 20), the protests have probably been fuelled by those with vested interests. Just because the government introduced relaxations, it does not point to bad planning; in fact, it is natural to create a safety valve for a new scheme. And of course, the Congress is painting the NDA in a bad light to reap some political mileage.

R Kasthurirangan, Bengaluru

Find real culprits

This is with reference to No role of Subbarao in S'bad arson: Police (June 20). I think it is a pleasant surprise that the police have said this. Otherwise, the police are known for finding scapegoats and jailing them before they are even declared guilty. Hopefully they will be able to find the real culprits.

K Nehru Patnaik, Visakhapatnam

Age is just a number

After losing in the first two T20 matches, India bounced back with a strong performance; Dinesh Karthik and Bhuvneshwar Kumar played phenomenally well despite being under pressure. Bhuvi bowled brilliantly in the powerplay and death overs. Truly, this is the comeback of two veterans. Perhaps they now have a place in the ODI squad as well. They have proved that form is temporary but class is permanent.

Agnipath: Four-year tenure not good enough, says Gen Malik

The outreach over the recruitment scheme has not been proper and the government should have communicated well, says the former Army chief

FORMER Chief of Army Staff General VP Malik led the Army during the Kargil war. On the Agnipath recruitment plan, he underlines the need for young foot soldiers and a more tech-savvy force in the armed forces. He also emphasizes that four years are not enough to train the technical manpower. Excerpts from an interview to Mayank Singh:

Verbatim

How do you see the concept of Agnipath and the opposition to it?
It is unfortunate that violence is taking place. We have not been able to collect more funds for modernization for a long time. As these reforms got off the ground, there were some compulsions. One, we wanted to bring down the age of soldiers. We had mentioned it in the Kargil Review Committee Report.

As the person gets older, one develops a physical condition. The second aspect is that such persons don't take risks. We require good leaders at JCO and NCO levels also as they lead the troops along with young officers. The present warfare requires more tech-savvy persons.

Your suggestions to make Agnipath better?
My feeling is that the four-year tenure is a little too short. The outreach has not been proper. There were people who had appeared and passed the tests and were waiting to be recruited and have now become overage. The financial package is all right. By the time a scheme is implemented, you'd get to see the flaws. The government should have also communicated as much.

Modernization and Indigenization is a continuous debate. Your comment?
The relevant point is that modernization should have been at a much faster rate. You can blame people like Antony (former defence minister) who did not buy weapons for 10 years. You can also say we did not have the money.

Without getting involved into politics, I can say the infrastructure on the ground has started improving, thanks to confrontations with China. Modernization has also picked up; the government is changing rules so that we are less dependent on imported weapons. We must make things work faster.

Major changes have taken place in India's neighbourhood. How do you see the situation for India?
Our real problem is with China and Pakistan in that order. Ukraine has an indirect effect on us. That war can also convey some lessons for us with respect to the fighting taking place. The situation along our borders will remain sensitive.

What about the standoff at eastern Ladakh?
It is becoming a long-term problem. We want neither China nor India to go to war. Yet China has already occupied certain areas and they don't want to vacate them as it is quite clear from the statements that are coming in and the kind of posture that is there. It is becoming a long-term eyeball-to-eyeball troop deployment along the border.

India's defence is undergoing major reforms. How will they change the situation vis-a-vis India?
The post of Chief of Defence Staff was recommended by the Kargil Committee. It took 20 years to bring it.
What has surprised me is that you have accepted the need for an appointment and brought the first CDS. After his untimely demise, the government did not replace him for many months. That's not understandable at all. It has sent the wrong message.

The new rule framed to include the Lieutenant Generals is flawed. They should have looked into the kind of experience they want for this appointment. You are not dealing with the operations per se.

Even a corps commander, who is a Lt Gen, gets eligible, but he has no experience of commanding two-three corps or the experience of politico-military decision-making.

Ready reckoner on recruitment

The "transformative reform", as the Union govt has called the new military recruitment scheme, will make India's armed forces fitter and younger, reducing the average age of soldiers from the present 32 years to 24-26 years

PROFILE OF AGNIVEERS

Healthier, more risk-taking, diverse, tech-savvy and dynamic: this is the profile the government wants for India's "future ready soldiers"

NUMBERS

Total induction in the first four years will be 1,75,000 for the Army, 12,500 for the Navy and 15,400 for the Air Force. That will come to an annual recruitment ranging between 50,000 and 60,000. The fifth year onwards, recruitment will match actual release including current cadres and Agniveers

ELIGIBILITY

Youth between 17.5-21 yrs eligible, though a one-off increase in the upper age limit to 23 has been announced because no recruitments were possible during the last two pandemic years

RECRUITMENT MODEL

- It's a pan-India merit-based recruitment programme. Selected candidates will be enrolled as Agniveers for four years. At the end of that period, they'll exit the force
- Based on merit and organisational requirement, up to 25 per cent Agniveers will be re-join the force as permanent cadre and serve a full term of another 15 years
- The other 75% 'demobilised' soldiers will return to society as "disciplined, trained and skilled citizens"

REMUNERATION

Annual package ranges from ₹4.76 lakh in the first year to ₹6.92 lakh in the fourth year, plus risk and hardship allowances, as applicable

At the end of their four-year tenure, they will receive a tax-exempted Seva Nidhi Package of about ₹11.7L. It will have a monthly contribution of 30 per cent of emoluments by Agniveers and an equal and matching amount contributed by the govt

In case of disabilities acquired in service, Agniveers will get compensation up to ₹44 lakh based on percentage of disability, full pay of the unserved period including Seva Nidhi; in case of death on duty, they will get a life insurance cover of ₹48 lakh, ex-gratia of ₹44 lakh, Seva Nidhi package

Cong leaders meet Prez to seek probe into 'police excesses'

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @New Delhi

TOP Congress leaders on Monday met President Ram Nath Kovind and raised the issue of alleged ill-treatment of party MPs by police during their protest against the ED questioning of Rahul Gandhi and also sought the withdrawal of the Agnipath scheme.

The Congress delegation comprised Leader of Opposition in the Rajya Sabha Mallikarjun Kharge, Leader of the Congress in Lok Sabha Adhir Ranjan Chowdhury, Rajasthan CM Ashok Gehlot, Chhattisgarh CM Bhupesh Baghel, and senior leaders P Chidambaram, Jairam Ramesh and K C Venugopal.

The delegation submitted a set of two memorandums to the President. One of the memorandums mentioned that the Agnipath scheme had created immense distress among youth and deep disquiet among serving and retired defence personnel. "We have urged the government through President of India to withdraw the scheme and hold wide consultation in the Parliament, the parliamentary committees and other stakeholders," Kharge said.

The second memorandum was submitted against the police excesses committed against some Congress MPs during the protest against the ED questioning. "We have urged to the President to cause a probe into the police atrocities by the Parliamentary Privilege Committee," said Chidambaram. The Congress leaders also took out a solidarity march from Parliament House to Vijay Chowk after staging a 'satyagraha' near Jantar Mantar.

Agnipath: 600 trains cancelled on day of bandh, farmer outfit to join protest

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi/Patna

PROTESTS continued across several states and 602 trains were cancelled, although no major incident of violence was reported as security was tightened in view of Monday's Bharat Bandh called in protest against the Agnipath scheme.

Seeking to broaden the stir, the Samyukta Kisan Morach (SKM) said it would hold a countrywide protest against the scheme on June 24. Rakesh Tikait, the national spokesperson of the Bharatiya Kisan Union (BKU), exhorted the youth, civil society and political parties to join Friday's demonstration.

The BKU, which part of the SKM-led agitation against the now-withdrawn farm laws, had earlier called for a protest on June 30 against the Agnipath scheme.

While the intensity of the protests was far less than the first three days of the violent agitation against the scheme, people resorted to blocking roads and railway tracks in Bihar, Haryana, Andhra Pradesh, Delhi and Jammu and a few other states. A otal of 612 trains were affected, with the worst-affected zone being East Central Railway, headquartered at Hajipur in Bihar. In this zone, around 350 trains remain cancelled.

However, the deployment of large contingents of police in Bihar, West Bengal, Andhra Pradesh, Rajasthan and Kerala, among other states, prevented occurrence of untoward incidents.

The Bharat Bandh, called by various organisations in Bihar, one of the worst hit by the violent protests, evoked mixed response. Barring a few incidents of road blockades, arson and protests, the bandh passed off peacefully amid tight security. A group of protestors squatted on railway tracks at Forbesganj rail station and put up a blockade near Subhash Chowk in Araria district.

In Patna, agitators tried to disrupt vehicular traffic at Danapur and indulged in arson and vandalism. However, alert police personnel intervened and brought the situation under control. The administration had closed all schools as a precautionary measure. Internet services remained shut across 20 districts in the state.

Protestors blocked roads in Haryana's Fatehabad and Rohtak. In Delhi, some Youth Congress workers were detained after they blocked a train at the Shivaji Bridge station. The imposition of Section 144 in parts of Uttar Pradesh and Haryana caused massive traffic snarls on the Noida-Delhi and the Gurugram-Delhi borders.

Schools continued to remain shut in Jharkhand even as the examinations for Class IX and XI remained deferred. The police in Punjab were ordered to monitor the activities of social media groups suspected to be mobilising or instigating youths against the Agnipath scheme.

India, Myanmar land trade likely to reopen after 2 yrs

YESHI SELI @New Delhi

MORE than two years after the closure of the India-Myanmar trade, the bilateral business through Manipur's Moreh-Tamu border is likely to resume soon. The official trade through the Moreh Integrated Check Post (ICP) has been closed since March 2020 after the Covid-19 outbreak.

"When the Covid struck the land route trade was stopped. However, the sea and air routes continued. Since the past few weeks, there have been talks between the ministry of commerce of India and Myanmar and it's been decided in principle to reopen the land route for cross border trade," a source said.

Trade is likely to resume from Moreh (110 km from Imphal, Manipur) Tamu border. A formal notification on resumption of trade could be announced any day, say sources.

The governments of both countries had set a target of achieving $1 billion bilateral trade five years back. However, the Covid pandemic hit, followed by the Myanmar military coup in 2021. It has delayed achieving this target.

While Myanmar is one of the largest exporters of pulses and beans to India, India exports mostly pharma products to them.

Myanmar is strategically very significant for India as it shares a land border of over 1,643 kms with India. Plus, both the countries share a maritime boundary in the Bay of Bengal. Four north-eastern states — Arunachal Pradesh, Nagaland, Manipur and Mizoram — have a boundary with Myanmar.

All concerned stakeholders in both India and Myanmar have recommended the opening of trade from land. But traders also fear about the security issues.

Security concerns

"We're happy with announcement of borders opening, but also worried about security as on Myanmar side, there has been tension between ethnic groups and military," said a Myanmar trader

J&K admin sacks 100-plus doctors

Government's order says these doctors stay away from duty without authorisation

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

THE Jammu and Kashmir administration on Monday sacked 112 doctors for taking unauthorised leaves.

The J&K Health and Medical Education Department in a series of orders on terminated the services of 112 doctors, including Medical Officers, Consultant Surgeons and B-Grade Specialists, for being absent from duty without authorisation. The sacked medicos have been absent from duty over different periods between 2005 and 2020.

While many of these doctors have been sacked for remaining absent for over five years, some others have been terminated for taking unauthorised leaves during their probation period.

The Lt Governor administration in J&K has been going tough against its work force and over three dozen employees have been suspended for alleged anti-national activities and some more have been suspended for unauthorised absence from duties.

The Administrative Department and the Director of Health Services of Kashmir and Jammu regions had earlier issued showcause notices to the absentee doctors. They neither responded to the show cause notices nor resumed the duty.

"The cases of these doctors have been examined thoroughly and it has been found that these doctors have not resumed their duty despite notices issued to them. Their act is voluntary and they are liable to be discharged on account of unauthorised absence from duty for more than five years," read the order issued by Principal Secretary, Health and Medical Education, Manoj Kumar Diwedi.

The order stated that these doctors neither replied to notice nor reported back for duty. As per rules, "willful absence from duty after the expiry of leave renders a government servant liable to disciplinary action".

AYODHYA CAMPAIGN

Cheques worth ₹22 cr for Ram temple bounce

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

THE donation drive for building a grand Ram temple in Ayodhya has bagged a whopping sum of ₹5,457.9 crore. However, cheques worth ₹22 crore given by devotees towards the cause have bounced.

The donation drive is spearheaded by Ram Janmabhoomi temple trust and the Vishwa Hindu Parishad (VHP). A tentative report of the donation monitoring team has revealed that cheques worth ₹22 crore have bounced.

The figure of the total amount collected so far is tentative as district-wise audit of the trust accounts is going on. Moreover, each bounced cheques is being examined to ascertain the reasons. "The cheques which were bounced due to the technical reasons would be presented again," said a member of the trust.

A 44-day fund-raising campaign was launched by the temple trust and the VHP on January 14, 2021. The initial campaign had resulted in bringing in ₹2,100 crore.

Before launching the campaign, the temple trust had given an estimated projection of ₹1,100 crore for the construction of temple and its premises. The temple alone was estimated to cost ₹300-400 crore. Till June last year, the temple trust had received a total of ₹3,200 crore through people's donation in its account.

Maiden firefighting facility at Nageen Lake

After a long wait, the administration has finally installed the fire fighting facility at famous Nageen lake in Srinagar. Two firefighting boats have been procured under Smart City Project to help to fight any fire mishap in the lake. The houseboats are made of combustible material, and the polish used makes them more vulnerable to fire. Many houseboats were gutted recently in fire incidents in Nageen and Dal Lakes in Srinagar. According to officials, the fire fighting boats are needed for prompt response in case of any fire incidents around the water bodies, especially houseboats and other habitations.

AZAMGARH BYPOLL

Setback to SP as cleric-led outfit backs Mayawati

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Lucknow

THE bypoll contest for Azamgarh Lok Sabha seat has taken an interesting turn with Rashtriya Ulama Council (RUC), headed by cleric Aamir Rashadi Madni, extending support to Bahujan Samaj Party (BSP) candidate Shah Alam aka Guddu Jamali, making the fight difficult for Samajawadi Party's contestant Dharmendra Yadav.

Azamgarh is set to witness a triangular contest with the BSP breaching into the Muslim vote base of the SP and the BJP eyeing Yadav votes for its candidate and Bhojpuri actor Dinesh Lal Yadav 'Nirhaua'. The SP mainly banks upon Muslim-Yadav combination in Azamgarh, which was vacated by party stalwart Azam Khan and is considered an SP bastion.

After getting the RUC's support, the BSP candidate has now become sure of his victory. In fact, RUC enjoys a considerable clout in three assembly segments— Sadar , Gopalpur and Mubarakpur — of Azamgarh constituency. Even though the BSP failed to win even a single one of the 10 assembly segments of Azamgarh in the 2022 assembly poll, the party was successful in winning four seats with RUC's support in 2017.

The voting for the Lok Sabha bypoll in Azamgarh will be held on June 23.

While extending support to BSP, RUC spokesperson Talha Rashadi said his party has decided to back the one which had stood by the people of the district in their difficult times, especially during the pandemic. "It was a demand of the people of the district that Guddu Jamali ji should be supported for he has proved himself. The Rashtriya Ulama Council has decided to support Shah Alam alias Guddu Jamali," said Talha Rashadi.

As per political analysts, RUC's announcement is sure to dent the SP's trusted Muslim-Yadav combination. Besides, SP would also have the challenge to keep its Yadav vote bank intact, especially after the switch over of its senior leader Ram Darshan Yadav to the BJP. Yadav is believed to have a lot of influence in the Mubarakpur assembly seat of Azamgarh.

AGNIPATH STRAINS SHAKY RELATIONSHIP OF BJP, JD-U

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

THE violent protests in Bihar against the Agnipath recruitment scheme have strained the shaky relationship between ruling allies BJP and JD-U to such an extent that leaders of both parties are daring each other to snap ties.

"Even though there is least possibility of BJP making any serious move to disturb Chief Minister Nitish Kumar before the 2024 Lok Sabha election, it is difficult to say when Nitish will run out of patience. Even junior BJP leaders have been embarrassing him through their acerbic comments," said a political analyst on the condition of anonymity.

His apprehension finds a resonance in the statements of various JD-U leaders too. Party president and MP Rajiv Ranjan Singh aka Lalan Singh has commented that it is up to BJP whether it wants an alliance with the JD-U.

Similarly, former minister and senior JD-U leader Jai Kumar Singh said it IS high time to take some tough decisions on the alliance with the saffron party. "BJP leaders should decide whether they want their party's alliance to continue," he said.

On the other hand, Bihar BJP minister Neeraj Kumar Singh 'Bablu' said, "If someone wants to move ahead on his plan (breaking alliance) by making some excuse, there is nobody to stop him. He can decide his future course of politics." "Attempts are being made to create fissure in Bihar NDA. If state BJP president Sanjay Jaiswal has questioned the role of administration during the anti-Agnipath violence, what is wrong in it?"

Houses of deputy chief minister and Jailswal were attacked and also BJP offices in Madhepura, Nawada and Madhubani were set afire during the agitation.

AAP, Congress on same page in Gujarat

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA
@ Ahmedabad

THE Congress and AAP have decided to intensify a low-decibel protest in Gujarat against the 'Agnipath' recruitment policy for the armed forces.

State Congress spokesperson Manish Doshi said after a party meeting that Congress would hold a rally against the scheme. "BJP leaders who go at length describing the benefits of the 'Agnipath' scheme should first check their past. BJP leader VK Singh himself went to court to raise the retirement age from 60 to 65 during the Congress government. He had also moved the court to raise the pension amount. How can he explain the benefits of the Agnipath scheme?" he asked.

AAP's joint general secretary Isudan Gadhvi said: "We don't support violence, but we can't allow the beating up of the young protestors." He said MPs and MLAs are entitled to huge amounts of pension money. "On the other hand, the government has come up with a plan to fire soldiers who will work for only four years without any pension benefit."

BJP bid to create armed cadre base, claims Mamata

PRANAB MONDAL @ Kolkata

A day after BJP general secretary Kailash Vijayvargiya's said that he would give priority to 'Agniveers' while hiring security guards for party offices, West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee on Monday accused the ruling party at the Centre of "trying to create its own armed cadre base" through the new recruitment drive in the Army.

"The BJP is trying to create its own armed cadre base through Agnipath scheme. What will they do after four years? The party wants to give arms in the hands of the youth," said Mamata on the floor of the state assembly.

Referring to Vijayvargiya's remark, the West Bengal chief minister asked whether the BJP plans to hire Agniveer soldiers as "watchmen" at its offices.

Alleging that the venture is aimed to "hoodwink" people before the 2024 Lok Sabha elections, Mamata said, "Agnipath is a project to create BJP's cadres who will help to steal votes and guard the party office."

Leader of the Opposition Suvendu Adhikari walked out of the assembly along with other saffron party MLAs alleging that the chief minister insulted the Indian Army in her speech in the assembly.

Maha jolt to MVA: All BJP nominees win Council poll

MUMBAI: In yet another jolt for the ruling MVA in Maharashtra, the opposition BJP won all five seats it contested in the Legislative Council on Monday, while two candidates each of ruling allies Shiv Sena and the NCP sailed through. Their partner Congress suffered a setback as it could bag just one seat.

Ten MLC seats were up for grabs and 11 candidates were in the fray for the elections, which came days after the Rajya Sabha polls, which saw the BJP handing defeat to the MVA. While the BJP had enough numbers in the Assembly to get four nominees elected easily, its fifth candidate Prasad Lad, too, made it to the Upper House of the state legislature after securing support from MLAs outside his party's pool.

Eight candidates, four of the BJP and two each of the Shiv Sena and the NCP, secured the minimum quota of 26 votes in the first round of voting. NCP candidate Ramraje Nimbalkar, Pravin Darekar of the BJP and NCP nominee Eknath Khadse easily bagged sufficient number of first preference votes.

Both the candidates of the Sena — Sachin Ahir and Aamshya Padavi — also won, while the two nominees of the Congress, which is part of the MVA, failed to secure the minimum quota of the first preference vote. The fifth candidate of the BJP — Lad and Congress nominee Bhai Jagtap secured sufficient number of votes and won in the second round.

All 285 eligible MLAs took part in the polling process, but two votes were invalidated.

RIVERS IN SPATE

Two cops among 10 killed in Assam floods, over 41.7L people affected

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR
@ Guwahati

TEN more persons, including two children, perished in the Assam floods in the past 24 hours since Sunday.

According to the Assam State Disaster Management Authority (ASDMA), the deaths were reported from Cachar (1), Darrang (3), Dibrugarh (1), Hailakandi (1), Hojai (1), Kamrup (1) and Nagaon (2) districts.

With these, the death toll in rain-induced floods and landslides in the Northeast has risen to 119 – 81 in Assam, 32 in Meghalaya and six in Arunachal Pradesh. Seven persons were reported missing in Assam on Monday.

The ASDMA said over 41.69 lakh people in 4,660 villages of 32 of Assam's 35 districts are affected. Cropland in over 1.03 lakh hectares is also under flood waters.

Army personnel rescue villagers in Kamrup district on Monday | PTI

Rivers such as Brahmaputra, Beki, Puthimari and Kopili were in a spate, flowing above the danger level. Nearly 2.32 lakh of the marooned were taking shelter in camps.

Two police personnel, including the officer in-charge of a police station, were washed away by the swirling floodwaters. The bodies were retrieved later. Sub-inspector Samutjal Kakati and constable Rajiv Bordoloi had gone to a village to rescue the flood victims when the tragedy struck the duo.

Director-General of Police Bhaskar Jyoti Mahanta mourned the deaths.

Roughly 18% of the famous Kaziranga National Park has been flooded, official sources said. Fifty-five of its 223 camps are inundated. So far, seven hog deer and one leopard have died due to various reasons.

CBI files 2 chargesheets in Birbhum carnage case

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Kolkata

THE CBI on Monday filed two separate chargesheets in the killing of a Trinamool Congress leader and the subsequent carnage allegedly triggered by it in which a house was set ablaze and nine persons, including two women and two children, were charred to death in West Bengal's Birbhum district's Bogtui village in March this year.

The CBI held four persons accused in the charge sheet in the murder of Trinamool Congress leader Bhadu Sheikh, and 18 persons, including a local Trinmaool leader who was arrested by the state police shortly after chief minister dropped his name publicly, in the massacre case.

On March 21 night, Sheikh, deputy chief of a local panchayat, was fatally attacked with bombs. On the same night, a house was set on fire in retaliation.

The CBI had taken over the investigation of both the cases—Sheikh's murder and the massacre claiming nine lives—following an order of the Calcutta High Court.

"In the chargesheets, it has been mentioned that the massacre of nine persons was a direct fall out of the killing of Sheikh. The rivalry between two groups over the issue of dominance in the area and control over income from illegal collection led to Sheikh's killing and the subsequent massacre," said a CBI official

The Bogtui massacre is said to be the biggest carnage during Mamata's tenure since the change of guard in the state in 2011.

Russian onslaught continues in east Ukraine

Luhansk governor says it's hell there, claims everything is engulfed in fire and shelling doesn't stop even for an hour

KYIV

RUSSIA'S military machine persevered in its ferocious effort to grind down Ukraine's defences on Monday, as the war's consequences for food and fuel supplies increasingly weighed on minds around the globe after warnings that the fighting could go on for years.

In Ukraine's eastern Luhansk region, battles raged for the control of multiple villages, the local governor said.

The villages are around Sievierodonetsk and Lysychansk, two cities in the Luhansk region yet to be captured by the Russians, according to Luhansk governor Serhiy Haidai. Russian shelling and airstrikes on the industrial outskirts of Sievierodonetsk have intensified, he said.

Haidai told the media on Monday that the situation in Sievierodonetsk was 'very difficult,' with the Ukrainian forces maintaining control over just one area ' the Azot chemical plant, where a number of Ukrainian fighters, along with about 500 civilians, are taking shelter. The Russians keep deploying additional troops and equipment in the area, he said. "It's just hell there. Everything is engulfed in fire, the shelling doesn't stop even for an hour," Haidai said.

Only a fraction of 100,000 people who used to live in Sievierodonetsk before the war remain in the city, with no electricity, communications, food or medicine. Even so, Haidai said, the staunch Ukrainian resistance is preventing Moscow from deploying its resources to other parts of the country.

The British defence ministry noted that the war is not going all Russia's way, despite its superior military assets.

Russian ground troops are 'exhausted', the defence ministry said in an intelligence report on Monday. It blamed poor air support for Russia's difficulty in making swifter progress on the ground. Across the world, drivers are rethinking their habits and personal finances amid surging prices for gasoline and diesel, fuelled by Russia's war in Ukraine as well as the global rebound from the Covid pandemic. Energy prices are a key driver of inflation that is rising worldwide and making the cost of living more expensive. The EU's top diplomats gathered in Luxembourg on Monday for talks focused on Ukraine and food security. EU foreign policy chief Josep Borrell called on Russia to lift its blockades of Ukrainian ports to help deliver the millions of tons of grain waiting to be exported. "I hope — more than hope, I am sure — that the UN will at the end reach an agreement,' Borrell said. AP

Food, water concerns as floods batter Bangladesh

DHAKA

FLOODS in Bangladesh continued to wreak havoc on Monday with authorities struggling to ferry drinking water and food to flood shelters in the northern and northeastern regions, officials said.

Over a dozen people died across the country since the monsoon began last week, authorities said. The government called in soldiers on Friday to help evacuate people. Millions remained without electricity.

Enamur Rahman, junior minister for disaster and relief, said up to 100,000 people have been evacuated in the worst-hit Sunamganj and Sylhet districts, and about 4 million have been marooned in the area.

The latest statement from the country's Flood Forecasting and Warning Center in Dhaka on Sunday said flooding in the northeastern districts of Sunamganj and Sylhet could worsen further in next 24 hours. It said the Teesta, a major river in the northern Bangladesh, may flow above danger. The situation could also deteriorate in the country's northern districts of Lalmonirhat, Kurigram, Nilphamari, Rangpur, Gaibandha, Bogra, Jamalpur and Sirajganj, it said.

Officials said water has started receding from northeastern region but is posing a threat in the central region, the pathway for flood waters to reach the Bay of Bengal in the south. AP

Nat'l rail strike to cripple Britain

LONDON

BRITAIN'S railway network this week faces its biggest strike in more than three decades, in a row over pay as soaring inflation erodes earnings. Rail union RMT has said more than 50,000 workers will take part in a three-day national strike, coinciding with major events including the Glastonbury music festival. Schools warn that thousands of teenagers taking national exams will be affected. RMT argues that the strikes are necessary as wages have failed to keep pace with inflation. Jobs are also at risk, with passenger traffic yet to fully recover after the lifting of Covid pandemic lockdowns. AFP

PROTESTERS BLOCK ALL ENTRANCES OF PREZ SECRETARIAT

COLOMBO

A GROUP of protesters in Sri Lanka demanding the resignation of President Gotabaya Rajapksa for the mismanagement of the economy blocked all entrances of the presidential secretariat here, forcing the police on Monday to arrest 21 people, including a Buddhist monk and four women. The nation, home to around 22 million people, is currently facing its worst economic crisis in more than 70 years. Its economy is experiencing extreme fuel shortage, soaring food prices and a lack of medicines. The demonstration at the GotaGoGama, a protest site at the Galle Face, entered the 73rd day on Monday.

The protesters last night blocked the two entry points to the presidential secretariat in addition to the entrance which they have been continuously blocking since April 9. Police said the latest action by protesters to block the two gates which provide access to the finance ministry and the government treasury was uncalled for. PTI

Gotabaya thanks Xi for 'continued friendship'

Colombo: Sri Lankan President Gotabaya Rajapaksa on Monday expressed appreciation for China for its "continued friendship", as he thanked Chinese counterpart Xi Jinping for wishing him on his birthday. "Thank you President Xi Jinping for the warm birthday wishes. Along with all of #lka I also want to thank #China for her continued friendship, particularly during these trying times. May the ties between our two nations grow from strength to strength," he tweeted, referring to the worst economic crisis faced by the island nation and Rajapaksa's bid to restructure debts owed to Beijing. 1 dead, 8 wounded in yet another shooting in US

NEW YORK

AN early-morning shooting Monday at a gathering in Harlem left a man dead and eight other people wounded, New York City police said.

Officers responded about 12:40 am to reports of a shooting on a footpath along the FDR Drive and found five people shot, police said, citing preliminary information. They were taken to hospitals for treatment.

Four other people who were shot also arrived at hospitals for treatment, police said. A 21-year-old man was pronounced dead at a hospital, police said, and the wounded included six other males and two females. "Father's Day weekend is a weekend where people were supposed to be able to enjoy themselves with their families," Police Commissioner Keechant Sewell said at a news conference.

The investigation was ongoing Monday and police didn't immediately have details about the gathering or what may have led to the shooting.

Information about possible suspects wasn't immediately released, but police said on Twitter that a gun was recovered from the scene. Tips were being sought from the public as part of the investigation. AP

VIL plans to raise up to ₹500 crore

Firm says plans to raise fund via issuance of equity/convertible warrants to Vodafone Group

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

CASH-STRAPPED telecom operator Vodafone Idea (VIL) is making another effort to raise funds.

VIL is now planning to raise up to ₹500 crore from one of its promoters. It informed the exchanges late on Sunday night that its board is going to meet on June 22, 2022, to consider a proposal for raising up funds from its UK-based promoter Vodafone Plc. The company said it plans to raise fund through issuance of equity shares and/or convertible warrants on a preferential basis to one or more entities belonging to Vodafone Group (one of the promoters of the company).

VIL has been trying hard to raise funds for the past one-and-half years, but failed in that bid. Since it has failed to raise funds from external investors, it is looking for help from the promoters. VIL had set a target of ₹25,000 crore from the market. Its promoters Vodafone Plc and Aditya Birla Group only infused ₹4,500 crore as their equity contribution. Therefore as the 5G spectrum auction nearing, the telco has no other option but to raise funds anyhow to participate in the bid. The CEO of VIL, Ravinder Takkar, recently said the telco is close to raising ₹20,000 crore from external investors but it hasn't been happening because the government is yet to finish the process of taking up equity in the company. Once it is done, the investor might pick up stakes in the company. In January 2022, VIL opted to pay interest of nearly ₹16,000 crore through preferential shares, which makes the government a 32% stakeholder in the company. Recently Bharti Airtel acquired an additional 4.7% stake in Indus Towers from Vodafone Group.

The deal was signed on the condition that Vodafone will use the proceeds to invest in cash-strapped Vodafone Idea and the latter will clear its pending dues with Indus Towers. Telecom experts believe Vodafone may not bid heavily in the upcoming auction.

After failed bids, VIL turns to promoters

New Delhi: VIL has been trying hard to raise funds for the past one-and-half years, but failed in that bid. Since it has failed to raise funds from external investors, it is looking for help from the promoters. VIL had set a target of ₹25,000 crore from the market

Government says rationalising non-capex expenditure is critical

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

THE government on Monday said after cut in excise duties on petrol and diesel, rationalising non-capex expenditure has become critical.

Centre's revenue took a hit after slashing of duties on fuel, giving an upside risk to the gross fiscal deficit, it said in its 'Monthly Economic Review' report.

"Increase in the fiscal deficit may causes the current account deficit to widen, compounding the effect of costlier imports, and weaken the value of the rupee, thereby further aggravating external imbalances, creating the risk (admittedly low, at this time) of a cycle of wider deficits and a weaker currency," it said. It further added that rationalising non-capex expenditure is just not important for protecting growth-supportive capex but also for avoiding fiscal slippages.

It is also noted that the depreciation risk to rupee is there in view of outflow of foreign portfolio investors (FPIs). As per the report, the recent surge in inflation in EMEs is mainly on due to supply-side shock arising from the Russian-Ukraine conflict. "In advanced economies, liberal stabilisation policies therein have impacted the prices of the entire consumption basket. Whereas, in emerging market economies imported inflation is in respect of only a few commodities on which these economies are net import dependent," the report said.

However with time, imported inflation in emerging economies may spread to other commodities via interlinkages in the consumption basket, making retail inflation more broad-based, the government observed. In addition, the government hopes that the international crude prices may temper on the back of weakening of global growth and the increase in supply by OPEC.

Govt extends telecom PLI scheme by 1 yr

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

IN a bid to build a strong ecosystem for 5G in the country, the government on Monday extended the production linked incentive (PLI) scheme for design-led manufacturing by one year.

The government has also approved addition of 11 new telecom and networking products to the existing list, and announced to give an additional incentive rate of 1% over and above existing incentive rates.

"With the objective to build a strong ecosystem for 5G, the Union Budget 2022-23 has proposed to launch a scheme for design-led manufacturing as part of the existing PLI scheme. After consultations with stakeholders, the guidelines for the PLI scheme for Telecom and Networking Products have been amended to introduce the Design-led Manufacturing with additional incentive rates," said the Ministry of Communications in a statement.

Department of Telecommunications (DoT) had notified PLI scheme on February 24, 2021, with a financial outlay of ₹12,195 crore. A total of 31 companies, comprising 16 MSMEs and 15 Non-MSMEs including 8 domestic and 7 global companies were given approval on October 14, 2021.

DoT further said based on feedback from stakeholders including the selected PLI applicants, it has decided to extend the existing scheme by a year. The existing beneficiaries will be given an option to choose financial year 2021-22 or financial year 2022-23 as the first year of incentive.

Under the scheme, the DoT is inviting applications from design-led manufacturers as well as others, for availing of incentive under PLI scheme for five years commencing from April 1, 2022. Investment made by successful applicants in India from April 1, 2022, onwards and up to financial year (FY) 2025-2026 are eligible for the scheme, subject to qualifying incremental annual thresholds. The scheme is open for both MSMEs and non-MSMEs including domestic and global companies. The applications from design-led manufacturers should be prioritised over other manufacturers while shortlisting.

Margin call pressures drag down midcap, smallcap stocks

RAM SAHGAL @ Mumbai

A huge fall in commodity stocks like steel , copper and crude resulted in brokers making margin calls on their clients and even cutting positions of clients who couldn't meet the margin shortfall, exacerbating the collapse of small-cap and Mid-cap shares on Monday .

The Nifty Smallcap 100 and Nifty Midcap 100 tanked over 3% and 2% each even as the Nifty and Sensex closed in the green after a volatile session.

Late Monday evening, rumours also did the rounds of a Mumbai-based online Broking firm being unable to fulfil some retail client payouts . This means the broker could not credit payment to the account of a client who squared off his positions. Analysts said the steep fall in stocks across the board , particularly commodity stocks of late, on recessionary fears sparked by global central banks' tightening monetary policy , resulted in huge losses for investors .

Clients who trade on cash segment against 50% collateral (cash or stocks) who couldn't meet margin shortfall saw many brokers selling their shares kept as collateral . This is believed to have exacerbated the fall in mid caps and small caps Monday . The fact of margin calls being made Monday pressuring the small and mid-cap segments was confirmed by Kamlesh Shah, president of nodal broker body ANMI and Rajesh Baheti, director , Crosseas Capital. Margin call is made when the client faces a shortfall in margin placed with broker to trade on cash or the derivatives segment of stock exchanges.

FALL IN EXPORTS, SLOWDOWN DRAG DOWN STEEL STOCKS

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

AFTER being in high demand for over a year, steel stocks are under tremendous pressure on account of falling exports, inflationary pressure and slowdown in the global economy.

On Monday June 20, Tata Steel, SAIL, Jindal Steel & Power, SAIL, Hindalco , among few other steel companies hit 52-week low on the exchanges.

"India's steel exports will drop 35-40% to 10-12 million tonnes (MT) this fiscal following the 15% export duty imposed on several finished steel products last month. Exports of iron ore and pellets will also fall this fiscal, and lower domestic prices," Rating agency CRISIL said in a report.

Tata Steel closed Monday's session 5% lower at ₹861.20. This is a sharp fall as it was trading near ₹1,370 on April 8. SAIL closed 5% lower at ₹64.90. It was trading near ₹110 apiece in early April. The BSE Metal Index has corrected about 60% in little over two months- from 23,500 level on April 11 to 15,000 level on June 20. Besides steel, copper and iron ore stocks have also tanked in the recent past. Hindustan Copper fell 9% on Monday, while Vedanta tumbled over 12%. In a month, Vedanta has fallen over 24%. VK Vijayakumar, chief investment strategist at Geojit Financial Services, said duty hikes and falling exports will severely impact the profitability of the steel sector and this is getting reflected in the prices of steel stocks. The positive side is that steel consumers, notably in the automobile and construction sectors will gain from this steep decline in prices, he added.

Following the Russia-Ukraine war, demand for Indian Steel in the European market had shot up and it was during this time when investors were buying steel stocks in bulk. However, slowdown in the global economic activity, widespread lockdown in China and rate hikes by central banks worldwide to control inflationary pressure weighed down heavily on the demand for steel.

Maruti's SUV Brezza to have electric sunroof

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

INDIA'S largest carmaker Maruti Suzuki India (MSIL) has confirmed that its compact SUV Brezza will be the company's first car in its history to get an electric sunroof.

Even as carmakers in India have been offering electric sunroofs for the past many years owing to its popularity among buyers, MSIL so far has shied away from offering one.

Maruti Suzuki has already started taking bookings for the upcoming Brezza for ₹11,000, which will be launched by the end of June. The compact SUV is expected to play a major role in helping MSIL to regain its share in the SUV space. Brezza's facelift will hit the market two weeks after its most fierce competition Hyundai Venue was launched at a starting price of ₹7.53 lakhs. Shashank Srivastava, senior executive director (Marketing & Sales), MSIL, said, "With over 7.5 lakh units sold in just 6 years, Brezza commands a strong market share in the compact SUV segment in the country. Today we are happy to share that we will be introducing the most-awaited compact SUV in an all-new avatar." The 2022 Brezza, which is dropping the "Vitara" prefix from its name, will also compete against the likes of established models such as Kia Sonet, Mahindra XUV 300, Tata Nexon, Nissan Magnite. Kia on Monday said its compact SUV Sonet has crossed cumulative sales milestone of 1.5 lakh units since launch in September 2020. New Brezza is said to be powered by a new K15C engine, the same which powers the company's Ertiga and XL6 model.

Premium consumer durables products' demand increases

SAMIKSHA GOEL @ New Delhi

CONSUMER durables giants are seeing an increase in demand for value-added or premium products in comparison to entry-level products.

Entry-level products are under pressure due to two main reasons, according to experts - first is increasing pressure on disposable income and rising cost of living, particularly affecting the low-income buyers and the second is the narrowing price gap between the entry-level and value-added categories.

At the same time, the buyer of value-added products, which is the people in the middle or high-income group, are driving sales of white and brown goods and companies in the sector are, therefore, banking on the category.

Sustaining prices is becoming difficult, as there is constant cost increase due to commodity prices, therefore, sales of entry-level products are hit, says Avneet Singh Marwah, CEO SPPL.

"If delta between entry-level and mid-level is narrowed then consumers will choose the mid and affordable premium category. Currently, we are witnessing the same. Our 40 inches and 43 inches 4K TV segment is performing as good as the entry-level segment," Marwah says.

Pallavi Singh, Sr. VP SPPL, agrees with this explanation. "Due to this increase, the cost of entry-level products is now nearing that of the next segment, hence a consumer would feel the need to debate on settling for a product when a value add can be purchased by paying a minimal price difference," Singh says.

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

MOBILITY startup Ola Electric, which has become one of India's largest electric two-wheeler makers, teased the design of its future electric car at a customer event at the Ola Futurefactory in Krishnagiri, Tamil Nadu recently.

The electric vehicle (EV) maker hasn't released any details about its first electric car; however, Ola group CEO Bhavish Aggarwal has confirmed that more information will be revealed on August 15, 2022. As per reports, Ola electric car may hit the Indian market in the second half of 2023.

Ola Electric, which is loaded with inverters' money, had first posted a picture of its concept car in January this year. That time the automaker was facing severe criticism due to delay in delivering its electric scooters to consumers. Design wise, Ola's electric car appears to be a sedan; a sharp contrast given almost all the electric passenger vehicles at the moment comes in SUV body type.

RBI's vision doc will make financial inclusion a reality: Experts

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru

THE Reserve Bank of India's Payments Vision 2025 document will aid in driving digitisation at the last-mile and it shows the regulator's intent and the road map to enhance the outreach for digital payments, say fintech firms.

The central bank, which released the document last week, expects the Unified Payments Interface (UPI) to register growth of 50% and more than 3x increase in the number of digital payment transactions by 2025.

Commenting on the document, fintech firm BharatPe's CEO Suhail Sameer said the regulatory emphasis on expanding the card acceptance infrastructure across districts and connecting the UPI with other modes of payments will make financial inclusion a reality for millions of Indians.

Over 26 crore digital payment transactions are processed daily by payment systems, of which UPI system itself processes more than two-thirds, said RBI.

Also, there has been an increase in unique users of mobile banking and internet banking by 99% and 18%, respectively, between March 2019 and September 2021.

While the unbanked and underbanked are queuing up for tickets, the digitally savvy skip queues using prepaid cards.

Just as National Common Mobility Card offers transit payments solutions, RBI should consider building new use-cases for prepaid and contactless cards, those which power payroll, remittances and fund transfers, among others, said Anand Kumar Bajaj, Founder and CEO, PayNearby.

While UPI has been at the forefront of the digital payment ecosystem driving online payments through an easy interface, cash usage continues to dominate the economy. Bajaj added that leveraging on their appeal as a non-cash alternative, RBI's stance to develop a conducive framework for the long-term growth of PPIs will aid in driving digitisation at the last mile," he added.

According to Rajesh Mirjankar, CEO and MD of Kiya.ai, internationalisation of UPI will be crucial since it benefits the Indian residents and their counterparties globally.

Foreign investors look for stability

WHEN the interest rate differential between India and the US decreases, Indian papers become less attractive for foreign investors, who shift out their portfolio investments to developed economies. Foreign portfolio investors are also sensitive to risks and higher volatility shown in the emerging markets. This drives outflow of capital from these markets to safer developed economies. India has been witnessing major outflow of foreign capital since the beginning of 2022.

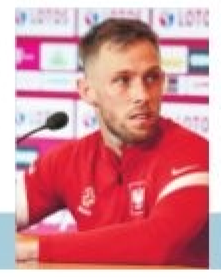
Poland cuts Russia-based player out of WC plans



Poland won't consider defender Maciej Rybus in its plans for the World Cup in Qatar after he signed a new contract with a Russian club. The Polish soccer federation said on Monday coach Czeslaw Michniewicz told Rybus that he would be left out of the squad for Nations League games in September and out of Poland's plans for the World Cup because of his 'current club situation.

Jehan earns rare chance to test with McLaren

ANMOL GURUNG @ Chennai

ONLY two Indians — Narain Karthikeyan and Karun Chandok — in the rich history of Formula One, considered to be the pinnacle of motorsport, have had the rare opportunity to go full throttle and feel the buzz of the sport. At present, Jehan Daruvala is India's strongest hope to take that rare path. In his third year at Formula 2, a rung below F1, Jehan has been a consistent performer this season and currently sits third in the drivers' standings. A famed Formula One team has certainly taken notice of that. In a massive boost for Jehan and India, the 23-year-old will take part in a test with McLaren at Silverstone in England this week.

The Indian will be driving McLaren's car from the last F1 season (MCL35M). This will be the first time Jehan will be getting a feel of an F1 car. Having dreamt about driving at the top level since his childhood, Jehan — who is supported by Mumbai Falcons — is thankful to get this chance. "Super excited and grateful for the opportunity to have my first experience in a Formula 1 car testing with @ McLarenF1 this week! A big thank you to the Red Bull Junior Team, my family, my support team, @ MumbaiFalcons, McLaren and everyone who's supported me along the way!" Jehan posted on social media. The fact that he's part of the Red Bull Racing Junior Team (since 2020) and competing for podium finishes in F2 itself speaks volumes about his talent. But he still has a long road ahead. But the latest development is a step in the right direction for him. The fact that F1 teams are monitoring his races closely is a huge deal. "Every driver going into F1 needs to test the previous year's F1 car before they can test the current car. So it's good that this is happening. The important thing is it's with a top team. The teams are not going to choose any driver. It speaks volumes that Jehan is considered right up there for a top team to consider him. This is part of the process of getting prepared for F1. It shows where he is at the moment and we just have to hope things continue to progress," Rayomand Banajee, who has known Jehan since his karting days, told this daily.

Representing Prema Racing this season, he currently sits third in the drivers' overall standings after six rounds.

Dress rehearsal for India batters

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chennai

TWO T20Is against Ireland, three against England, five in Caribbean and US, Asia Cup and three at home versus Australia. From now on till the T20 World Cup, India have roughly 17-20 T20Is lined up (there is still no clarity on the Zimbabwe tour). After their recent assignment against South Africa, India seem to be getting closer and closer to finalizing the squad for the World Cup to be played in Australia in October-November.

In the absence of their regular top three — Rohit Sharma, KL Rahul and Virat Kohli — and the middle-order batter Suryakumar Yadav, the big take away has been the contributions of Hardik Pandya and Dinesh Karthik in the finishers' role. While the indifferent form of Shreyas Iyer gives Kohli breathing space at No 3, India are beginning to put their pieces together. While they are spoilt for choice in the bowling department, it is the batting which needs immediate addressing. For a team that has been guilty of slotting players out of position, they are beginning to course correct a bit here. It was evident in the way they slotted Karthik for a specific role. While the flexibility that Pandya, Ishan Kishan and Rishabh Pant provide allows them the luxury to use at least two of them as floaters, some tough calls still lie ahead of them.

In the batting department between Rohit, Rahul, Kohli, Suryakumar, Pant, Kishan, Pandya, Karthik and Samson, they possibly have space only for seven. Despite poor returns with the bat, India rightfully have Pant in their plans as he can always be the game changer. And speaking at the end of the series, head coach Rahul Dravid, apart from bringing to the fore Pant's strike-rate, stressed the fact that he offers something different as a left-hander in the middle. And Kishan has made a strong case for himself to be included as the back-up opener. "As you come closer and closer to the event, you want to firm up your final squad or if not, obviously you want to have some contingencies in the kind of world we live in today," Dravid said. "We can only take 15 to the World Cup, but you should at least have your top 18-20 players. Obviously there could be changes because of injuries and all few things that are beyond your control. We are definitely looking to firm up that squad."

Days before FIFA meet, AIFF GS goes on leave

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chennai

A day before the FIFA delegates' scheduled arrival, Kushal Das, general secretary, has proceeded on leave on account of his health issues. This was revealed through a statement by the court-appointed Committee of Administrators on Monday.

Since the general secretary (a paid post) has decided to proceed on leave, "the Committee of the Administrators has appointed Sunando Dhar as an acting general secretary, who would be responsible for the day-to-day administration of the Federation under the guidance of the Committee of Administrators."

A joint team of the FIFA and Asian Football Confederation is expected to meet various stakeholders of Indian football on Wednesday to discuss the way forward. The court has directed the CoA to amend the constitution and hold the long-pending elections of the AIFF as early as possible. The CoA through the statement has said that it "would like to conclude the work entrusted to it by the honourable court as soon as possible..."

INDIA'S CIRCLE OF FIRE

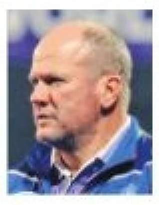
Reid's focus on quality of attacking play has made team a goal threat

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @ Chennai

ON a warm early evening at Rotterdam on Sunday, Netherlands won the Pro League, beating a typically robust India 2-1. India, who will finish third irrespective of whatever happens in the remainder of the season, have had a season where they have learned lots. Post the Olympics where they picked a bronze, the challenge was to take their game forward.

It's fair to say they have done that in a number of areas. Their 3D skills — a very important lexicon in the sport's modern dictionary — pressing and what they do after entering the circle have all gone up a level. None of that is a surprise when you listen to coach Graham Reid. In the last camp before embarking on the European sojourn, the team spent a considerable amount of time in looking at how they enter the striking circle. While circle penetration is an important attacking metric, what that metric doesn't tell is the quality of penetrations. Reid and the other support staff decided to strip down circle penetrations further. They looked at chance creation (a bit like the xG model in football which measures the quality of the goalscoring chance as soon as the shot is taken).

Each circle penetration was given a number with 1 (touching the ball anywhere inside the circle) being the worst and 5 (open goal or penalty corner) being the best. The Australian, who spoke to this daily before he took a Hockey 5s team to Lausanne, explains. "One of the things we have been talking about a lot is being aware of how we enter the circle and what we do when we are in the circle," he says. "Every time we create an opportunity, we put a number from 1 to 5. During the Pro League, we have been creating a lot of 1s and 2s but we need to find a way of converting them into 3s, 4s and 5s. So that's what we have been working on."



Even though the 58-year-old says more work is to be done before they can routinely convert their 1s into 4s and 5s, their output, in terms of goal-scoring, has gone up. In fact, in this edition of Pro League, they have scored the most goals (62), most penalty strokes (4), most penalty corners (27) and also have the player with the most goals (Harmanpreet Singh with 18). This represents a big jump in terms of goal-scoring returns. However, apart from working on the above-mentioned model to increase their output, he hasn't specifically done anything different.

After the Pro League, Reid's next two big assignments is the Commonwealth Games and the World Cup. Considering the India gig has been a poisoned chalice for most of the coaches who have come before him, is he surprised that he's stayed this long? "(laughs)... I don't know. Every coach who has joined has always hoped that they could make that leap and try and make a difference to this wonderful country. I'm not sure I have done a huge thing but I have certainly loved it and, to be honest, having that year in lockdown was a real positive."

Delhi HC dismisses petitions of paddlers

AGENCIES @ New Delhi

INDIAN TT players Manush Shah and Swastika Ghosh's writ petitions challenging their exclusion from the country's Commonwealth Games squad were on Monday dismissed by Delhi High Court. Shah and Ghosh had approached the court after the Committee of Administrators (CoA), running the Table Tennis Federation of India (TTFI), had excluded them from the final CWG squad announced earlier this month. "I was told by our lawyer that our case has been dismissed," Manush's father Utpal said. The selectors did not include Manush in the men's team although he was in the top-four as per the criteria set by the CoA.

WITH THE NEW ACADEMIC YEAR APPROACHING AND BORDER RESTRICTIONS LIFTED, B'LURU STUDENTS GOING ABROAD SHARE HOW THEY ARE PREPARING FOR THEIR NEXT COURSE OF ACTION

‘MAJOR’ DECISIONS

REPRESENTATIVE PIC

ISHRATH MUBEEN

IT'S that time of the year again when students are at the crossroads to choose the right colleges and courses. As countries across the globe open their borders, students are applying and heading to attend their preferred courses in countries like the United Kingdom, Canada, Germany and more. City-based architect Keerthana G Prasad has applied to universities in both Germany and UK for a Master's in architecture. "I prefer European countries. They are the epitome of architecture, with high-end research facilities and global job opportunities. I applied to several universities, including the University of Westminster, University of Edinburgh, University of Manchester, the University of Sheffield and more," she says. "I started preparation after my graduation in 2021. I took the IELTS in September and worked on improving my profile with online courses and certifications till December. Meanwhile, I also worked on my SoPs and other documents," says Prasad, who hopes to head out soon.

Preparing for four months now, another aspirant Ankush P A prioritises the USA over other countries and has applied to universities like the University of Texas, Arizona State University, University of Illinois Chicago and more. "Their course curriculum, scholarships and the research opportunities for civil engineers are impressive. For a Master's programme in construction management, my preferred intake is in the fall of 2022," he says.

Dr Ted Mockrish

However, wanting to go to Germany, Aditya Shreyas' applications were rejected by all 12 universities he applied to. "Luckily, I had the USA as a backup. I am admitted into the fall semester of 2022 for a Master's degree in mechanical engineering from the University of Delaware," says Shreyas, who took four months to prepare for SoPs and LoRs and two months for GRE and IELTS exams. After a long wait due to the pandemic, Vishakha Shubham, a city-based software developer, has applied to the University of Limerick and University College Cork in Ireland. "My preferred intake is September 2022 because the pandemic has already delayed it. I have been preparing for the exams for the last five months," says Shubham.

According to Akshay Chaturvedi, founder & CEO of LeverageEdu, there has been a huge increase since the pandemic. "The big destinations have seen a three to five-fold increase in their last intakes. We are in the middle of closing our largest ever academic enrolment pan-India this September intake, six times of last year," he says. In addition to the return on investment, Mockrish believes the reason students prefer colleges abroad is also that these colleges and universities provide students with a progressive environment. "This mode of education ensures they gain both theoretical as well as practical knowledge and skills," he says.

Sumeet Jain, co-founder, Yocket, a platform for students aspiring to study abroad, says there has been a spike in the number of students going to the United States in 2021 and a rise is expected in 2022 as well. "After Germany and the UK, Australia and New Zealand borders are proactively attracting students after two years. There has been a pent-up demand which has increased this number," he says. Jain points out that the US is doing exceptionally well for STEM (science, technology, engineering and medicine) courses and universities across other countries are launching more such courses to attract Indian students. "In addition to computer science and related courses, data science courses have seen increased interest. Meanwhile, business courses are doing well in Canada," he adds.

Head of school, Canadian International School Dr Ted Mockrish points out that students are planning to study subjects such as engineering, computer science, business, medicine, art, and more. "The acceptance rates have gone up from 250 last year to 300 this year for our graduating class," he says.

Going the old-school way

THE Old Cottonians' Association, the alumni body of Bishop Cotton Boys' School and Bishop Cotton Girls' School, is back with their annual Old Cottonians' Ball, the reunion event for alumni of both schools. The event will be held on June 29, at The Chancery Pavilion. "The Old Cottonians' Association of Bishop Cotton Boys' School is one of the oldest alumni organisations in the country. The Cottonian community celebrates St Pete's & the OC Ball on an annual basis. This year, we are gearing up for unique experiences ranging from music, a fashion show with alumni, a pool party and food," says Sunil Mysore, chairman of the association.

Old Cottonian Harsha Kripalani, adds, "The OC Ball allows us to meet our fellow Cottonians, and the sheer excitement of grooving to the beats of DJ Ivan, alongside the fashion show, is something I'm looking forward to."

The association has organised a bouquet of events during the St Peter's Tide celebrations such as a snooker tournament at KSBA, golf tournament at KGA, a heritage walk in association with a prominent jewellery store etc. "The reunion dinner is held during the Commemoration tide and is one the longed-for events of the year. No matter what the level of distinction is, all Old Cottonians' sing one song — On straight On! — that unifies the fraternity," says Felix David Peter, member of the managing committee.

WHERE YOGA MEETS DANCE

On World Yoga Day, yogi and Bharatanatyam dancer Yamini Muthanna will present Navagraha, an amalgamation of two art forms

MONIKA MONALISA

WITH the world gearing up for World Yoga Day today and Prime Minister Narendra Modi heading to Mysuru, all eyes are set on the royal city of Karnataka. But the people in Bengaluru are also in for a treat as yoga acharya and Bharatanatyam dancer Yamini Muthanna will present Navagraha, which is an amalgamation of the classical dance form and yoga. The event will take place at National Gallery of Modern Art, Vasanth Nagar, and the presentation is in association with the Indian Council of Cultural Relations (ICCR).

Muthanna's choreography shows the cosmic play of planets which she has tried to show in different postures of yoga. "Today is an auspicious day according to the astrological calendar where the sun is going northwards. And yoga is one of the practices which will affect the pranic flow inside our body," says Muthanna. Since both the forms have symmetrical postures, it is easier to combine the art forms. "For instance, if I am trying to present the sun, then I use yoga postures to do it or if I have to show a tree, then I would show it as a head stand," explains Muthanna, who has been practising yoga since 1986.

Always the yoga enthusiast, Muthanna is quite happy about the attention the day has been getting. "The idea behind the day is to promote yoga globally since it has a lot of impact on the body — physical, mental and spiritual. In a deeper sense, the way you look at things changes, so it becomes a day of transformation," she adds.

Due to PM Modi's visit, Mysuru has grabbed a lot of limelight but yoga in Mysuru has been quite popular with practitioners. "We have seen actors like Richard Gere and Dolly Parton visiting the city to practice yoga," says Muthanna, adding that Mysuru has been a hub of many yoga acharyas like K Pattabhi Jois, BKS Iyengar, and T Krishnamacharya.

(Yoga acharya and Bharatanatyam dancer Yamini Muthanna will present Navagraha, at National Gallery of Modern Art, on June 21, 6 pm onwards)

Nandu's to Raise Consumer Awareness with "Right to Good Meat" Campaign

Nandu's, India's largest hyperlocal and omni-channel meat brand, has released a series of informative videos and launched a print and digital campaign asking consumers to exercise their right to consume quality, healthy and fresh meat

Nandu's is committed to providing consumers with fresh, safe and healthy meat and meat products. Invoking consumers to exercise their right to buy and consume fresh and healthy meat, the brand has launched a unique consumer focused campaign titled "Right to Good Meat". A first-of-its-kind initiative, the campaign aims to educate consumers on their right to know everything about the meat they eat- How is it raised? Where is it processed? The source, quality control processes and hygiene standards involved in the making of their favorite meat.

The traditional meat market has so far been driven by the habit, convenience, and price sensitivity of the consumer. Usually, very little or no heed is paid, either by the consumer or by the seller, to the importance of food safety while identifying or declaring the source and environment in which the meat is reared for human consumption. It thrives on the good faith that the consumer reposes in the seller. Therefore, traditional meat producers or retailers have never felt the need to walk the consumers through the stages involved in the production of meat - from rearing to the processing and retailing of meat.

Nandu's believes that consumers have a right to know everything about the meat they eat. With its uniquely conceptualized short videos series, the "Right to Good Meat" campaign takes consumers through every aspect of meat rearing, processing, and retailing – including controlling the quality of bird feed to storage and transportation of processed meat in a temperature controlled cold chain, and how all of this eventually affects the quality of the meat that reaches the consumers. Weaving these stories together are videos of the best practices followed by Nandu's at their own farms, processing centers and state-of-the-art retail stores. Through the campaign conceptualized and developed in-house, Nandu's also seeks to amplify the voice of the farmers who have benefitted through their association with the brand.

According to Narendra K Pasuparthy, Chief Farmer, Founder & CEO, Nandu's products are known for their quality as the firm owns and controls every step of the supply chain to ensure that the commitment to the health and well-being of consumers is never compromised.

Vinay Gopinath, COO, Nandu's added, "Our "Right to Good Meat" campaign is aimed at bringing consumers back to the mainstream narrative, and empowering them with information that they need to have before making any purchase. We believe that our first and foremost duty is to inform our consumers about the quality checks that each one of Nandu's products goes through. With this campaign, we also wish to reiterate our commitment to their right to fresh, healthy, safe and good meat."

Pavangopal A, CMO, Nandu's said, "Most consumers today make purchase decisions based on prevailing habit. It's time consumers know all about the meat they eat, and this campaign is aimed at empowering the consumers to make the right choice".

Nandu's, and the larger Nanda Group, have been pioneers in the business of organized poultry and livestock farming since 1963. The organization owns and operates the entire supply chain from farms to retail stores, and follows stringent quality checks to ensure that the highest standards of food safety practices are adhered to through the entire process. The values and mission of the organization has given it deep insight into why it is imperative to be transparent with its consumers regarding farming, processing, handling, storage and logistics of the meat supply chain.

"We maintain 100% transparency and traceability of our products to give our consumers the satisfaction of having chosen the truly healthy option for themselves and their families. However, we are also aware that many meat consumers are still in the dark regarding their right to know about the quality control methods and processes regarding meat production. Through our "Right to Good Meat" campaign, we wish to make consumers aware of what information they should seek before buying meat. The assurance of quality should be preceded by real insights into the steps that go into creating quality products. Our "Right to Good Meat" initiative is a step forward in disseminating that information to consumers in general, and thereby fostering transparency in one of the fastest growing markets in India."

- NARENDRA K PASUPARTHY,
Chief Farmer,
Founder & CEO, Nandu's

The company's vision is aptly captured as "We want to shape and lead the meat industry towards the highest standards of quality, freshness and hygiene, and thereby provide meat that is healthy and safe even for children!" The company aims to establish themselves as retailers of healthy meat that are devoid of any growth promoters such as hormones, steroids or antibiotics. EKA PADA UTTANA PADASANA

(ONE RAISED LEG POSE)

The practioner lies on the back for this, with arms close to the body, keeping one leg straight and lifting the other leg to a 90-degree angle. This is an excellent exercise to strengthen the abdominal muscles and the lower back. It acts as a preparatory pose to Uttana Padasana Variation Hands-On Floor or Ardha Halasana. It helps align a displaced Manipura (Nabhi) Chakra and stimulates the Swadhistana (Sacral) Chakra.

STEPS

- Lie on your back in Supta Tadasana (Reclined Mountain Pose). Relax the whole body and breathe normally.
- Turn the palms towards the floor and align them close to the body.
- Inhale slowly and raise the left leg with the right leg resting straight on the floor.
- Take the left leg to a 90-degree angle gently, without jerking it. The inhalation helps this consciousness. Don't bend the knees while raising the legs. Exhale.
- Hold the leg in the position for 2-3 breaths. You can feel pressure on the abdominal muscles, which may not be strong enough to hold the pose for long. Gradually increase the duration, to a minute.
- Exhale and gently bring the left leg down. Realign to Supta Tadasana.
- Practise with the other leg. Release, realign to Supta Tadasana and relax in Savasana (Corpse Pose).

LIMITATIONS

- People with hamstring or lower back injuries, weak ankles, knees, or wrists, musculoskeletal frames, dislocated joints, herniated disc, spinal ailments, uterus tumours, avoid this.

BENEFITS

- Strengthens core, lower back and hamstring muscles.
- Helps reduce weight around the abdomen.
- Improves the strength and elasticity of the hamstrings, calves, plantaris muscle (behind the knee), and the tendons attached to the ankles.
- Leg mobility and muscle power increases.

- Increases with the effective supply of venous blood, keeping the overall sync between the body and mind.
- Stimulates and improves the function of reproductive organs.
- Leg alignment helps to relieve perennial lower back pain.
- Strengthens the walls of the uterus, treating ailments related to menstruation and fertility. However, avoid during periods.

A READER IN AN ART GALLERY

OPEN SPACE
Tina Shashikanth
Chief Sub Editor
ruchita@newindianexpress.com

SEVERAL years ago, one sunny noon after we finished work, a colleague asked me if I wanted to visit the National Gallery of Modern Art. I said 'yes' on a whim. We strolled into the premises and just like that, NGMA became my most beloved place in Bengaluru. Whenever I needed some time away from the rancorous realities of the material world, it was my go-to place. Sometimes, there would be an exhibit that provided ample food for your brain, while on other days, just sitting down on one of those stone benches under an old tree with a book was more than enough. There would be a steady stream of art buffs and artistes going about their businesses. The serene pond seemed as if it could mirror our thoughts. On rainy days, when the whole world was enveloped in greyness, I would rush to the Gallery, sit down with a book, having some delectable coffee and sandwiches from the canteen. At NGMA, I could always write so easily, without interruptions or distractions.

All this was, of course, before the pandemic, after which I developed a steady fear of visiting public spaces. Being cooped up at home for months and suffering much due to Covid-19 did a huge number on my psyche. For a long while after recovery, I was very scared of interacting with strangers, although I put up a brave face. I take the same corner two-seater in Namma Metro to this day and get perplexed over the sea of strange faces I come across at the Majestic station. I have not boarded a city bus after the pandemic and was on the verge of having a panic attack after attending a wedding. When I finally decided to venture out by myself after much deliberation, it was to a book release event. I was confident it was the perfect place to get back into my old pattern. I had heard of this writer and there was a good turnout. However, I started feeling claustrophobic soon after and had to rush out. It took me some more time to step into a bookstore, as I had grown accustomed to ordering them online.

We were driving by Palace Road last week and my daughter suddenly asked me: "Wasn't it your go-to place? You often vanished into it," she quizzed me. I glanced at the entrance and told her it had been years now. "Why don't you visit again?" she said. I nodded and wondered why I had not thought of this place. I recalled watching an artist sketching in a little journal at the campus while reading Bob Dylan. She saw me watching her and smiled. We had a brief discussion on poetry and a Korean artist whose works we both had come across a while ago. I also recalled writing a poem squatting at a quaint spot I found next to the canteen. I have come to realise it is a place of tranquillity and creative enjoyment. I am planning to visit NGMA one of these days and I know I will be charmed and elated once again.

MEETING OVER MEALS

Foodies at The Courtyard, Shantinagar

Bengalureans are back to community dining aka meeting strangers and like-minded people over food, something that had come to a standstill during the pandemic

A lunch hosted by Conosh

ANILA KURIAN

MEETING new people, and learning about different experiences has been something many missed doing since the pandemic. And now that things have opened up, these gatherings are taking place in various forms across the city. One of those is community dining – a gathering where foodies come together and enjoy good food, have a chat over it and network with each other.

The Courtyard in Shantinagar, known for community dining gatherings, opened for a short period when the lockdowns seemed to be settling down last year but it's picked up once again now with few Covid-19 protocols. Akhila Srinivas, the founder, says their Food Project (what the brand has termed the community dining concept) is an idea to provide a niche experience for diners and chefs alike.

"We've been doing this since 2019 but the outbreak of Covid-19 put a stop to it. Of late, along with the experiences we're offering, we also decorate the place according to particular themes," she says, explaining that when chef Kavan Kuttappa of Naru Noodle Bar hosts a meal, the space was decorated to look like a street in Tokyo that gave it a ramen bar spin.

"There are usually about 20 to 30 diners who participate in the event, depending on how much the chef can handle. Sometimes, based on the theme, it ends up being a day event or over the weekend," says Srinivas, adding that they have increased these meet-ups from once a month to thrice a month. "We have a sandwich pop-up coming up where chefs are asked to make their gourmet version of it. There's also a Pride movie screening taking place where the food will be themed 'Eat your Rainbow'," she adds.

Taking it to other cities as well is The Soul Company. Co-founder Somanna Muthanna says that they have hosted community dining events in Mumbai, Delhi, Puducherry and Kolkata, along with Bengaluru. "For The Ministry of Crab event we hosted recently, we anticipated about 40 people but we got more than 50 on both the days, including more on the waitlist," he says, adding that diners are willing to pay more if they know the experience is going to be unique. "We have another event with Big Forkers coming up this weekend and we want to see how it'll go to plan more. A similar format has been done by the team of Big Forkers in Goa, so we're hoping the format will be a good one for more in Bengaluru too," Muthanna says.

A dine-in experience organised by The Soul Company

Conosh, a food experience platform, switched to home delivery methods. However, they are now back again with in-person meetups. Given that Conosh is a space for home chefs, even these dining experiences are held at the hosts' homes. "We had home chef Bhavini who made authentic Gujarati food for about 10 people at her home. Masterchef Mahendra set a table with a Himalayan trail which included dishes from Tibet, Nepal and Ladhak. Both of these happened recently and there was a good number of people requesting to join in as well," co-founder Vaibhav Bahl explains.

VOLUME CONTROL

LOVEOLOGY
Mahesh Natarajan

(The author is a counsellor with InnerSight)

THINK of your favourite music. It might be a classical tune, or some song from the '60s or the latest hit song, or even some heavy metal, punk rock. Whatever your choice of music might be, just notice how much you enjoy it, and at what volume. Can you still feel joy in it if it is blasting at a ridiculously high volume, or if it is being played non-stop? At some point, even the most melodious tune becomes just noise. We would shut it down, relegating it to background noise, tuning it out and developing selective deafness, or just walk away.

Is it the same when we want to communicate with each other? When we want our partners to listen and think they aren't listening, do we find ourselves saying what we need to say more and more often, louder and in shriller tones? Does that work?

More often than not, all it does is get us a reputation as a nag, and people just don't listen. Communication tends to break down and fall apart. What's worse, the focus shifts from who we are and what we are trying to achieve, to only the how of it. We get labelled as the shrill one, the loud one, the nag – no matter how important the content of what we were trying to say. We might be saying really important things, useful and healthful things, we might have been the most hard working, conscientious person around, but all that gets washed away with only the how of our communication remaining.

In relationships, we often hear that complaint where one person, frustrated to the point of tears, says, "I do so much, take care of everything, and yet, I just get labelled as the angry one, the loud one."

Relationships are frustrating. When we get tagged as the bag or the loud or shrill one, people tend to tune out not only the thing we are harping on, but over time, to everything we say. The danger is that it will colour everything, like that one hand-dyed red shirt that colours the whole laundry into a shade of pink.

If we don't have better tools to work through the frustrating parts of the relationship, even the parts of the relationship that are great start to feel not-so-great. To extend the laundry metaphor, the parts of the relationship that are frustrating and painful can't be banged away with the rest of it. We need to separate it out, handle it directly and carefully. Maybe even leave it as is for dry-cleaning and not wash it at all.

Learning to separate out one tricky bit from the big muddle of interpersonal issues, bringing focused attention to it and not letting it colour everything, takes a lot of effort, mutual respect and willingness to deal with it. Sometimes, it might still not work. The partner might just be in a "Take it, or leave it," space, and we need to choose whether and how we can live with something we just don't like at all.

Thapaswini Poonacha

THAPASWINI POONACHA AND RACHANA INDER ON WORKING IN RISHAB SHETTY'S HKGK

CE FEATURES

THAPASWINI Poonacha and Rachana Inder will be sharing screen space with Rishab Shetty in the upcoming comedy drama, Harikathe Alla Girikathe. Ahead of the film's release on June 23, in a conversation with CE, the two female leads open about their experience in working with the film, which is produced by Sandesh Production and directed by the duo Karan Ananth and Anirudh Mahesh.

For Thapaswini, her entry into the tinsel town was an accident and the offer came knocking on her door just when she completed her studies. "For someone, who has no experience or training in acting, getting an offer to act in Rishab Shetty's film is a boon," says Thapaswini, who plays the character, named Kushi Jokumaraswamy. "I was only testing waters with HKGK. However, the learning experience I have gained in this film has given me wings, and I'm now taking my acting career seriously," she adds.

HKGK is my first attempt at comedy: Rachana Inder

Rachana Inder, who marked her debut with Love Mocktail, is excited to act in HKGK and to team up with Rishab Shetty. "I am pretty excited about the film because my role in it is not the typical one you see in commercial films. I play the role of Girija Thomas, a tomboy character. She aspires to become a heroine, and she enjoys watching action films. Her encounter with Giri (Rishab Shetty) and the villain for a movie collaboration leads to a roller coaster ride that is HKGK," she says.

The film is her first attempt at comedy, and Rachana says that she was happy to have a team that helped her perform. "As a newcomer, I still feel hesitant to perform and deliver the dialogues. However, Rishab and the team gave me that comfort zone and confidence," she says. Rachana also has Ganesh's Tribble Riding and director Shashank's Love 360 in her kitty.

AKANKSHA SHARMA, WHO MARKS HER DEBUT WITH TRIVIKRAMA, TALKS ABOUT THE FILM AHEAD OF ITS RELEASE DATE, JUNE 24

'THE IMAGE OF A HEROINE HAS CHANGED OVER THE YEARS'

A SHARADHAA

AKANKSHA Sharma, who marks her tinsel debut with Trivikrama alongside Vikram Ravichandran, is all excited about the film's release. Akansha, a model-turned-actor is a known face, courtesy commercial ads. Also a talented dancer, Akanksha gained limelight with her single musical videos – Jugnu with Badshah and 2 songs with Tiger Shroff. In a chat with CE, she says, "I have been travelling across Karnataka for the film's promotions, where I got equal importance and love from the team and the audience," says Aakanksha, who believes that these days only talent matters. She adds, "Art has no language barrier - something I have realised already. Coming from Mumbai, I made sure that I learnt a bit of Kannada, which helped to connect with the people better. Even though I was coming from another place, I didn't feel like an outsider," she adds.

Akanksha reveals why she decided to mark her acting debut with Trivikrama. "One of my dance videos caught the attention of the director, who chose me to be part of the film. To be an actor was always my passion. Growing up, I was part of dramas and had understood the importance of characters. Trivikrama's story had equal importance to both the hero and heroine, and that's what made me sign up for this project. I needed a platform to showcase my talent, and Trivikrama gave me that scope to act. and also exhibit my dancing skills. Also the film has Vikram, the son of Ravichandran, in the lead. That's another reason for me to take up the role," she says.

Akansha says she has gained a lot of confidence by working in the film for the past three years. "Initially I felt like an alien, but I was accepted well. Today, wherever and whenever you put a camera in front of me, I will manage. Thanks to the training I received on the sets of Trivikrama," she says.

Akanksha says that the stereotypical 'heroine' image has changed in today's times. "It is not about glamour and good looks anymore. It has more to do with talent these days. That's what I felt after working in Trivikrama. Today's South Indian films are also considered 'Pan-Indian cinema' and I'm happy to start my career in Kannada and with a content-driven film. I aim to be noticed as a performer and a good dancer, and not just as a glam doll."

Prakash Raj and Ravi Shankar play lawyers in Rajendra Singh Babu's Veera Kambala

CE FEATURES

NATIONAL award-winning director Rajendra Singh Babu will soon wrap up his upcoming period drama, Veera Kambala. Recently, actors Prakash Raj and Ravi Shankar were spotted on the sets of the film sporting advocate gowns.

Talking about the film Rajendra Singh Babu says, "The director has spent two years on writing and researching for the script. It is dense scripting dealing with arguments about the Buffalo Race." It is also said that the filmmaker has even taken a few tips from director TN Seetharam for this courtroom episode.

Prakash Raj, who has previously collaborated with Rajendra Singh Babu in Muttina Haara, feels proud to be part of Veera Kambala. "Though the audience has seen me in courtroom scenes earlier, this subject is close to my heart as it is a story about my land. As a Tulu-speaking person from the Dakshina Kannada region, the land and culture of the film are close to me. As a Kannadiga I feel it is my responsibility to do this film," says Prakash Raj.

On the other hand, Ravi Shankar has a couple of reasons for accepting the film. "One: It is an opportunity to do a film in the Tulu language. Secondly, I get to work with Rajendra Singh Babu, whom I consider one of the best directors in the Kannada industry. Also, it is a pleasure to work with a notable actor like Prakash Raj. All of it attracted me to take up this role," he says.

Produced by Arun Rao of AR Productions banner, the film has music by Khadri Manikanth and cinematography by R Giri. It also stars Kambala racers Srinivas Gowda and Swaraj playing the lead roles. The film's cast also has Naveen Padil, Gopinath Bath, Rajashekar Kotiyan, Mime Ramesh, Usha Bhandari, Bhojaraja Vamanjur, Geetha Surathkal, Suresh Shetty, Divya, Santosh Shetty, Yuva Shetty, Hardik Padival, and Santosh among others.

'FILMS DON'T FAIL, BUDGETS DO'

SAJIN SHRIJITH

MUMBAI-based Yoodlee Films has been behind some of the most diverse and offbeat endeavours. Since its successful debut indie feature, Ajji, in 2017, this film division of Saregama label has shown its support for indie filmmakers in the country, with recent examples being Axone (Hindi) and the critically acclaimed Tamil feature, KD. Siddharth Anand Kumar, Vice President, Yoodlee Films, says the brand philosophy has always been to stand for "fearless filmmaking" with an aim to "tell stories which have the potential to shake people to their core and ultimately, spark a conversation which would end up creating a positive change in the society." Excerpts from the interview:

The indie film business is a high-risk gamble. When they fail, what are your takeaways?

When your goal is to make impactful content where the story is the hero, success comes sooner than later. The audience is today hungrier than ever for films that champion storytelling, with mindless entertainers increasingly out of favour. We strongly believe that it is not the films that fail, but budgets. We don't get carried away with budgets, and this gives us the freedom to experiment and make fearless films.

How has the proliferation of numerous OTT platforms changed your approach to business?

The data revolution and the subsequent boom of OTT platforms have completely transformed the dynamics of filmmaking. Content-driven cinema now has a safe haven. Here, the writer becomes the most important person. Producers can also experiment more with content and formats instead of being limited with storytelling and ending up with formulaic content. Moreover, it brings in more revenue for producers, which is great for the business.

It has been lately noted that OTT platforms do not accept small-scale films with the same enthusiasm as they did during the pandemic.

There is a change in audience tastes, and we are all working to serve that change. Platforms, too, have accepted this change, and now it is not just the star power or the story that works, but the combination of the two. And yet, a cinematic experience at home isn't achieved without mass appeal elements. We, as producers, realise that and try to give the audience what they want.

What projects are you working on now?

We are venturing into the Hindi web series space with an action show that will mark the OTT debut of Suniel Shetty. We are also developing a series on the riveting life story of India's first billionaire, Rajan Pillai, headlined by Prithviraj Sukumaran. There are a couple of other interesting projects in development as well.

Siddharth Anand Kumar, Vice President - Films, Saregama India, on what drives them to back indie filmmakers with offbeat narratives
